U.S. Submits Proposal For Arming U.N.

Four-Point Plan Provides Power To Combat Aggression

NEW YORK, Sept. 21 (AP) — U.S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson today submitted to the United Nations General Assembly a four-point plan to give that body military power to combat aggression anywhere in the world.

Mr. Acheson's Republican adviser, John Foster Dulles, described it as "the most important proposal for international peace and security put forth" since the end of World War II. Mr. Dulles will be in charge of pushing the plan through the 59-nation assembly.

The fight over the proposal is expected to start today when the assembly's 14-nation steering committee meets to decide the order in which the assembly will take up the almost four-score items on its agenda and which of the six main committees will hear each one.

Russia's Andrei Vishinsky is almost certain to demand priority for a three-point Soviet declaration which he read to the assembly yesterday.

The United States plan is an expansion and formalization of ideas set forth by Mr. Acheson in a speech to the assembly in the velvet-draped hall at Flushing Meadow Park yesterday.

John D. Hickerson, assistant secretary of state, told newsmen that it is a result of the experience gained from the war in Korea and envisions a genuine system of international security.

It would enable the veto-free General Assembly to meet on 24 hours notice in case of a breach of the peace whenever the Security Council, which bears "the primary responsibility for the maintenance of peace and security," is hamstrung by a big-power veto.

Although Russia is not mentioned by name, American spokesmen made it clear the Soviet Union was considered the probable obstruction in the council.

Set up a roving U.N. commission to observe developments in areas of international tension and report authoritatively to the assembly.

Ask member governments to set up, within their national armed services, units which would be at the call of the Security Council or assembly to put down violations of the peace.

Set up a committee to study other possible means of action to prevent aggression.

Mr. Dulles told reporters the plan plugs the loopholes in the U.N. charter, which have led some persons to denounce the world organization as a mere debating society, and will "transmute words into deeds."

A new resident is qualified to vote after he has resided in Ohio a year and in Columbiana county and his precinct 40 days prior to Election Day. East Liverpool is the only county subdivision where voter registration is required. The Election Board office is open daily from 8:30 a. m. to 9 p. m.

Registration Ends Wednesday

Registration ends Wednesday.

THEY'RE AT IT AGAIN! Familiar figures have swung into action once more at the fifth United Nations General Assembly. That's U.S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson at the left opposing the seating of Communist China. Russia's acid-tongued Andrei Vishinsky (right) argues just as strongly for the Red Chinese. And, of course, there's the snoozer, who seems to go with every U.N. meeting. In this case it's Great Britain's Ernest Bevin.

I'm Pleased, Truman Says Of Tax Accord

Final Action Planned Friday On Measure Boosting Pay Take

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21 (AP) — Congress now expects to put the $4,700,000,000 tax-boosting bill on President Truman's desk by tomorrow night, in time to increase pay roll tax deductions 10 days from now.

A Senate-House conference committee, suddenly breaking a deadlock, reached complete agreement on a compromise measure late yesterday. Mr. Truman quickly telephoned Representative Doughton (D) of North Carolina and said he is pleased with the bill.

The House and then the Senate are expected to approve the bill, probably tomorrow.

The agreement cleared the way for Congress to adjourn this week and until after the November elections, when it will come back to consider a "second installment" war tax measure.

The present bill contains a pledge that this "second installment" bill will include an excess profits tax on corporations and that its effective date will be either July 1 or Oct. 1 of this year.

The two tax measures together, while boosting 1950 collections, materially, may increase taxes in 1951 by $12,000,000,000, to the highest level on record — even greater than the top collections in World War II.

It raises the income taxes of more than 50,000,000 individuals by almost $3,000,000,000 a year, effective Oct. 1. Most people's taxes will go up about 20 percent.

It raises corporations' normal taxes by $1,500,000,000 a year, retroactive to apply to one-half of 1950 corporation income.

48 Voters Enrolled In Registration Spurt

The County Election Board Wednesday registered the busiest day of its registration drive for the Nov. 7 election, enrolling 48 voters and recording changes of address for 18 more.

It was the first of a series of 12½-hour days the board will maintain until the registration deadline Wednesday at 9 p. m. The office will be open from 8:30 a. m. until 9 p. m. daily, including moves to lower world trade barriers.

Yesterday's enrollment pushed East Liverpool's registration total to 10,280, Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk, reported. But at least 2,800 still are unqualified, on the basis of the board's estimate that the city has 13,000 potential voters.

Despite the night hours, only 14 registered and two recorded transfers, Mr. O'Hanlon said. He said he expects a steadily growing stream of registrations that will turn into a rush at the last moment.

Love That Avenue!

TAMPA, Fla., Sept. 21 — City officials have been asked to install a street light on Love Avenue. Residents complained it is used more for love than it is for an avenue.

Amnesia Victim May Be New York Soldier's Wife

The woman amnesia victim at City Hospital has been identified tentatively as Mrs. June Espinosa, 22, of New York City, the name she gave the Salvation Army Citadel when applying for a room Sunday night, police reported today.

New York City police have been radioed to check the information, since the woman gave no street address, only a postal zone.

The apparent solution to the puzzle came Wednesday night when officers learned a woman of her description asked for lodging at the Salvation Army about 10 p. m. Sunday and was given a room at an East Third St. hotel.

Tuesday afternoon she walked into City Hall and said she could not remember her name or her background. After preliminary questioning, she was taken to City Hospital.

The woman told the Salvation Army she was en route from Chicago to New York and added her husband, Mike Espinosa, is in service. She is an expectant mother, police said.

The woman answered questions readily when registering, the Salvation Army said. She said she hitch-hiked into East Liverpool with a family that "couldn't take her any further." She said she planned to stay here overnight, then wire New York for funds in the morning, as the telephone office was closed at that time.

The trail led to the Salvation Army through an East Liverpool man the woman approached on Market St. Sunday night and asked where she could get a free room. When he read that her description matched that of the amnesia victim, he notified police, and the check with the Salvation Army register followed.

U.S. Delegation To Leave Friday For Tariff Talks

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21 (AP) — A 99-member delegation, armed with five tons of documents, will represent the United States at an international tariff-cutting conference starting in Torquay, England, next Thursday.

The vanguard of this American group, headed by Assistant Secretary of State Willard L. Thorp, will sail from New York tomorrow aboard the Queen Elizabeth.

Despite some congressional protests, the American trade experts will seek to swap tariff concessions with 24 of 39 countries taking part in the meeting in a new series of moves to lower world trade barriers.

President Truman firmly has rejected numerous requests that the conference be postponed or canceled. Some congressmen have protested that lowered tariff duties would hurt American industries whose help is needed in the rearmament program.

At the meeting, American delegates will have authority granted under the reciprocal trade act to cut existing tariff rates by 50 percent on some 3,000 items in exchange for concessions from other countries.

Products which may be affected range from garlic to machinery.

Taft Predicts Great Victory For Ohio G.O.P

Blisters Democrats As State Republicans Adopt Their Platform

COLUMBUS, Sept. 21 (AP) — U.S. Senator Robert A. Taft declared last night that the Democrats themselves have assured an "overwhelming Republican victory" in the November congressional elections.

He told a wildly-applauding crowd of delegates to the G.O.P. state convention here that the Democrats fear his re-election in Ohio "means the destruction of their power in the nation and the beginning of the end of New Deal rule."

"There are many issues before the people of Ohio and the nation," he declared, "but the principal issue is whether we desire a rubber-stamp Congress, tamely accepting the dictates of the unholy alliance among John L. Lewis, the Political Action Committee and Harry S. Truman, or whether we want an independent Congress, representing the people of the United States."

Mr. Taft, surrounded on the platform by G.O.P. candidates for state offices, said: "I look for an overwhelming Republican victory on Nov. 7, both in the race for congressional office and for state office."

The convention also heard U.S. Senator John W. Bricker, State Treasurer Don H. Ebricht, the G.O.P. gubernatorial nominee and Bonner Fellers, assistant to the national chairman of the Republican party, among others.

Earlier in the day, the delegates adopted a precedent-shattering 191-word platform, pledged (Turn to Page 7, Column 5)

Controls Eyed, Truman Says

Key Men Hunted To Fill Important Posts

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21 (AP) — President Truman said today he agrees that prices are going up while wages aren't and declared that plans to meet that situation are being worked on all the time.

But he added that he is no prophet and isn't saying when there may be some action.

He told his news conference he still must appoint some key men to economic and stabilization jobs. Mr. Truman said he is looking around and will fill the positions as quickly as possible and that there will be no delay if he can help it.

At the same time, he emphasized that controls this time should be imposed in an orderly manner, avoiding mistakes he said were made in the last war and all the travail that results from trial-and-error methods.

Asked whether he favors starting off with price controls on a few selected articles or commodities, as proposed by former price administrator Chester Bowles yesterday, Mr. Truman replied that this has been discussed all through the government. He said conclusions have not yet been reached.

Anti-Red Bill Waits Action By President

Backers Of Curbs Say They Have Votes To Erase Any Veto

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21 (AP) — A bill calling for strict federal hobbles on Communists, including wholesale internment of dangerous Reds in wartime, went to an uncertain fate at the White House today.

The Senate and House passed the measure by landslide votes yesterday — well aware that President Truman may veto it promptly. Backers of the measure claim they can override him if he does.

Barring any switch in sentiment, the figures bear them out. The Senate vote was 51 to 7, the House vote 312 to 20 — both far in excess of the two-thirds majority needed to override a veto.

The President had said he wouldn't sign earlier versions of the bill. Congressional leaders, eager to bring the current session of Congress to a recess Saturday, hope he will announce his intentions toward this version quickly.

In bitter Senate and House debate, foes of the bill condemned it as a menace to freedom which takes its cue from the very totalitarianism against which it is aimed and which wouldn't really hurt the Communists.

The Republicans and Democrats who backed it shouted "nonsense" and "misrepresentation." Senator Mundt (R) of South Dakota called the measure "a second Declaration of Independence."

The bill carries these major provisions: Compulsory registration of Communists, Communist organizations and Communist-front groups, but not rank and file members, also would be registered.

Authority in time of war, invasion or insurrection for internment of persons deemed to be potential spies and saboteurs.

A prohibition against Communists holding government jobs or working in defense plants, transportation facilities or defense laboratories.

Stern punishment of spies and saboteurs and extension from three to 10 years of the time in which prosecution could be started in espionage cases.

A clue to Mr. Truman's intentions may have been given in a speech to the American Bar Association yesterday by U.S. Attorney General J. Howard McGrath. He denounced the measure as evidence of "public hysteria."

The bar association's assembly ignored the attorney general's recommendations and endorsed the bill.

(Republican Senators Robert A. Taft and John W. Bricker of Ohio were paired against the Communist control bill. But 18 Ohio members of the House — nine Democrats and nine Republicans — voted in favor of the bill. Representative Wayne L. Hayes, Democrat of the 18th Ohio congressional district, was among them.)

Date Of Ware Pension Conference Will Be Set

Spokesmen for pottery labor and management expect to set a date late next week for their October conference on employee pensions.

The United States Pottery Association already has agreed to the meeting the "first week of October" with the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters.

Joseph M. Wells, chairman of the U. S. P. A. labor committee, said today the date and place for the meeting will be set when James M. Duffy, president, and Charles F. Jordan, secretary-treasurer, of the N. B. O. P. return from the American Federation of Labor convention that opened Monday in Houston, Tex.

The agreement to meet with the N. B. O. P. was reached by the U. S. P. A. in a general meeting last Wednesday at its East Liverpool headquarters.

Red Mystery Column Reported Moving On City From Manchuria

'Satisfied' MacArthur Quits Korea

General 'Looks In' On Battle As Plane Returns To Tokyo

TOKYO, Sept. 21 (AP) — General Douglas MacArthur came back to Tokyo tonight from Korea — apparently well satisfied with the Seoul front offensive.

A spokesman said he had not been called back by any emergency.

Just before returning, the general made a brief visit aboard the battleship Missouri, on which he accepted Japan's surrender Sept. 2, 1945.

As he left the Mighty Mo he said he had "a funny feeling," but did not explain it.

The battleship arrived at Inchon from the Korean east coast yesterday to help other Allied vessels shell Red targets more than 20 miles inland on the Seoul front.

General MacArthur returned to Japan aboard his new constellations plane Scap, named for supreme commander of Allied powers. It took off from the Kimpo airfield, 12 miles northwest of Seoul, and flew to Japan over 120 miles of enemy northwest territory. His old C-54 staff plane, Bataan, is being used to evacuate wounded from Korea.

Brigadier General Courtney Whitney, a close associate of General MacArthur, said the Seoul front is stabilized.

In Korea, General MacArthur has visited the Inchon, Kimpo and Seoul fronts after supervising the original beach-head landings last Friday from off shore.

After greeting his top commanders in Tokyo, he embraced Mrs. MacArthur at the edge of the runway.

Flying at 19,000 feet, unarmed and without fighter escort, Scap flew near Taejeon, passed over Taegu and skirted a battle at a bend in the Nakdong River.

"The old man wanted to take a look," explained Lieutenant Colonel Anthony Story of St. Louis, General MacArthur's pilot.

The general's key officers expressed the opinion tonight that the Allies are on the initiative and hold a firm position in the Seoul sector.

The general himself is plainly confident and pleased by the success of the gamble to land at Inchon and move inland.

He turned to Tokyo to handle the problems of the southern offensive as well as the affairs of his two other jobs — Far Eastern commander and Scap, General Whitney said.

It is not clear how long General MacArthur will stay in Tokyo or whether he will return to Korea. It had been expected he would enter Seoul when it is captured.

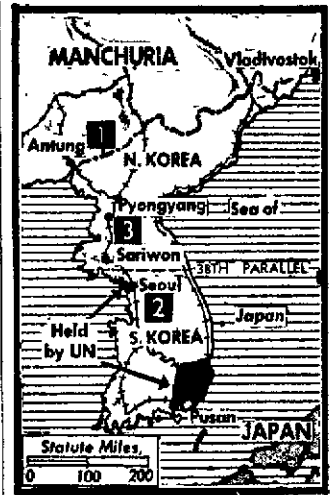

Lieutenant General Lemuel C. Shepherd, commander of fleet Marine forces, Pacific, predicted it will be at least a week before Seoul is sufficiently secure for any sort of victory parade.

Tito Proposes Yanks Stop At 38th Parallel

Urges Country-Wide Plebiscite In Korea If Line's Reached

BELGRADE, Sept. 21 (AP) — An American congressional delegation quoted Marshal Tito today as saying the United States should fight to the 38th Parallel in Korea, then stop and call for a country-wide plebiscite.

The 38th Parallel was the boundary which separated western-recognized South Korea from Communist North Korea.

Senator Pepper (D) of Florida said the question was raised during a three-hour chat with Marshal Tito last night at his private villa on the hills overlooking Belgrade. He said the Yugoslav head man gave the congressmen "frank and forthright answers" on many questions.

Mr. Pepper and other members of the delegation said Marshal Tito, while sticking to an independent stand for Yugoslavia in the Korean conflict, expressed approval of the United States action — and that of the United Nations — in taking an immediate stand against any effort to disturb world peace.

He also was quoted as saying the "entire religious situation" in Yugoslavia is now under review. (In Washington, President Truman said today the United Nations must decide whether U.N. forces are to drive beyond the 38th Parallel.)

(The United States, the President said, will abide by the U.N. decision.)

33 Witnesses Await Call Before Grand Jury

Thirty-three witnesses were to be examined by the Grand Jury today in seven cases.

Foremost on today's investigation was the murder charge against Mrs. Eva Tiller of East Liverpool in the knife slaying of Mrs. Edna Wheeler. Other cases due attention of the jurors include three criminal assaults, two auto thefts and a robbery charge.

Sixteen witnesses and two defendants appeared before the jurors at Lisbon Wednesday in eight cases.

Refrigerator Short Causes $1,500 Blaze

A fire believed started from a short in an electric refrigerator caused about $1,500 damage to the home of Mrs. Maggie Dallas of the Salt Run Road near Irondale this morning at 12:45.

Wellsville firemen said the fire was confined to a kitchen at the rear. Firemen said the blaze caused about $1,000 damage to the home and contents valued at $500 were destroyed.

5,000 Foes Trapped On Lower Front

Allied Bombers Keep Pounding Enemy As Many Surrender

TOKYO, Sept. 21 (AP) — American Marines battled for ancient Seoul today while a Red mystery column was reported rolling down on the Korean capital from Soviet-dominated Manchuria.

The nationality of manpower in the heavily-armed Communist column is not known to U. S. intelligence officers.

The Marines' entry into north-west Seoul's narrow streets was met by stiffening resistance.

Field dispatches reported the tank-led Leathernecks entered the city at 6 p. m. Wednesday (5 a. m. East Liverpool time) from their Han River crossing eight miles downstream.

The swift Allied 10th Corps advance from the original second front landing beaches at Inchon, 22 miles away, appears to have reached the slower house-to-house fighting phase. The Marines made it from the riverside into Seoul in 12 hours.

A big battle seems in prospect. Besides the threat of the unidentified column of 40 tanks and 200 other vehicles approaching Seoul from the north, Korean Reds rushed into the city from several other directions. Many were from the old Allied beach-head perimeter in the southeast.

Pilots spotted the mystery Red column 20 miles south of the Yalu River, Korean boundary 210 miles north of Seoul. It was reported Thursday morning to be possibly below the 38th Parallel dividing North and South Korea. This would put the column less than 30 air miles from Seoul.

Reds in the south were reported withdrawing, changing into civilian clothes and deserting or surrendering. And many others seen on the verge of surrendering.

To cut off effective reinforcements for Seoul from the south, the U. S. Seventh Division drove for the last line of ridges overlooking the highway from Seoul to Suwon.

Some enemy troops captured near Seoul were boys of 14 and 15. They said they had been ordered to hold the line at all costs.

On the old United Nations beach-head in the southeast, the main actions were in the Waegwan sector, 140 miles southeast of Seoul.

U. S. First Cavalry Division troopers and South Koreans forged a trap on 5,000 Reds of the Third and 13th Divisions northeast of Waegwan and the U. S. 24th Division drove three miles northwest of the town.

Carrying safe-conduct leaflets dropped by U. S. planes, scores of Reds quit — among them a political commissar. Those taken by the 24th Division said they didn't have much choice — they would be killed by the Americans if they stood their ground and shot by their own commanders if they fled.

Second Major Operation Undergone By Shaw

LUTON, England, Sept. 21 (AP) — Playwright George Bernard Shaw today underwent a second major operation at the hospital where he has been recovering from a broken thigh, the British Press Association reported.

The agency said the new surgery was designed to relieve a bladder and kidney condition which began to trouble the 94-year-old Irish-born dramatist after he was first operated on for a fractured thigh.

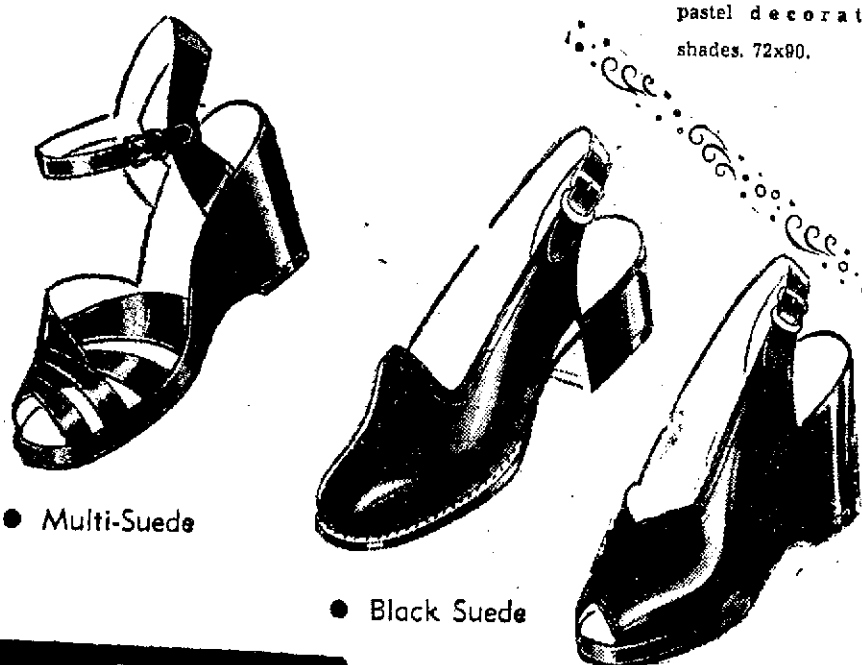

Mr. Shaw broke his thigh in a fall in his garden.

Old Egyptian Custom 'Dries Up' Speakers

MILWAUKEE (UP)—Rich Riemenschneider found a way to cool off six panel speakers who talked too long.

The panel was answering questions at a convention here. Each member was taking five to 10 minutes to answer to each question. The audience became restive.

Riemenschneider ordered a bowl of ice cubes and gave each speaker a cube to hold while speaking. The average speaking time dropped to one minute. "It's a variation of an old Egyptian custom," said Mr. Riemenschneider. "The Egyptians made speakers stand on one leg."

Duties Begun By Marshall

Calls Chiefs Of Staff After Swearing In

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21 (AP)—General George C. Marshall was sworn in as secretary of defense today at a ceremony attended by only two other persons.

The general was given the oath of office by Felix Larkin, general counsel of the Defense Department. Stephen Early, the outgoing deputy secretary, was the only witness.

An announcement of the ceremony at 9:45 a. m. said that this private swearing-in was in accordance with the wishes of General Marshall.

The new secretary immediately called a conference with the joint chiefs of staff.

The way was cleared late yesterday for the general to succeed Louis Johnson, who left office quietly Tuesday in obedience to President Truman's wishes.

By a 57-to-11 vote, the Senate confirmed General Marshall's nomination previously it and the House and the President had OK'd legislation to permit General Marshall to take the post, reserved by law for a civilian.

Post To Help Disabled Man

Fund Drive Planned For Artificial Limb

A special drive for funds to purchase an artificial leg for a disabled member will be held in October by American Legion Post 481 in Midland.

Albert Verzilli of Midland Heights recently had his leg amputated in the Rochester General Hospital after he was injured in an auto accident.

Edward Loftus, commander, appointed Paul Stiffler as chairman of the Halloween committee to arrange for the annual parade sponsored by the post. T. E. Rodfong was named head of the Christmas Workshop committee.

The post will organize a permanent firing squad and memorial detail to avert future complications in recruiting men for special memorial services and other events. They will be attired in full Legion uniforms.

Plans are under way to stimulate attendance at regular meetings.

The drive is designed to have all members in full Legion regalia.

The post officially presented a flag to the Midland unit of the Civil Air Patrol Tuesday night.

Maybe The Marines Did This

THIS is our own inside story of what has been happening with the Marines in Korea. It is conjured up in a newspaper office on the other side of the world and any semblance to facts as related to the dispatches is purely of our own making.

This, say we, is what happened. That "propaganda machine" President Truman talked about went to work and convinced the North Koreans that the Marines were a combination of Genghis Khan, Horatio-at-the-bridge and Superman.

This scared the daylight out of them and when the Marines stormed ashore at Inchon, the little men were shaking in their boots until they couldn't shoot the guns which Moscow had sent them.

It has been said that a Marine is at his best only when he gets good and mad. The President's loose and later regretted talk may have made some of them mad. At least the ones who were not too busy fighting to read what he had to say. That's always bad for anybody the Marines are fighting.

If that's the way to get the kind of action which has been taking place around Seoul, maybe what the fighting forces need is more propaganda, more policing, and more talk to make them mad at somebody.

Removing A Handicap

NOTHING in the modern school program has been making better progress or showing better results than speech and hearing therapy. Most schools now are paying some attention to children with these handicaps and results of their interest are inspiring.

A survey on a national scale shows that 7 to 10 per cent of school children have speech and hearing defects. In an encouragingly large number of cases, these defects may be overcome or their handicap minimized by a modest course of training and correction.

In a large number of cases, children with speech handicaps can be cured completely. This saves them from a lifetime of difficulty and embarrassment. Those with hearing troubles are trained to use their limited faculties in a way to minimize the handicap.

This is one of the most practical and helpful additions the modern schools have made to the traditional three R's.

Locally, the program has had invaluable assistance from the Speech Clinic maintained by the Business & Professional Women's Club, and the hearing equipment provided by the Quota Club. Probably more than the clubs or the public realize, they have made an incalculable contribution to many lives.

The Age Of Safety

DOOMING industrial activity has called many older workers back to service. Experience of World War II demonstrated the foolishness of thinking that men and women past 40 were too old for employment. In most cases they proved better workers than younger employees.

There are some places where employment of older workers is questionable. Under the seniority system of the railroads, oldest men get first choice runs. Often they pick the de luxe fast streamliners. In each of the last two big train wrecks, the engineer was 68.

Insurance companies have figures to prove older persons are more likely to be involved in accidents. They boost accident insurance rates sharply at the age of 60. Statistics prove that older men don't take so many chances, but they don't act so quickly to avoid trouble when danger appears.

The basic worth of the seniority system will not be damaged by a few carefully planned changes to keep older men away from the jobs in which their slower decisions and movements may endanger the lives of themselves and others.

Lewis Pops Off

THE THREAT by John L. Lewis that strikes may result if Senator Taft enters Ohio coal mines is the ultimate in his long record of labor dictatorship. Lewis has long told his men what they must do and how they must act. He has told them how to think. Now he tells them how they must look and listen.

Previous attempts to get workers to walk out on Senator Taft's talks have been flops. American workmen regard their freedom highly. They value their right to talk, and most of them are willing to allow the same privilege to others, even to those with whom they may disagree.

Even Lewis ought to know better than to try to gag Senator Taft. One of the things people like about him is that he speaks his mind. To tell any group of people that they may not meet him, talk with him and listen to him is a violation of the most fundamental right of free Americans. It is the action of a man who sets himself up as the ruler of his men, rather than their leader. It is further evidence that if there is any slave labor in America, the workers are slaves only of bosses like Lewis.

Behind The News

By George Sokolsky

Thoughts On The Day Of Atonement

ON THIS day, Jews throughout the world meet in prayer on the holiest day of their religious calendar, Yom Kippur, the day of atonement.

It is a day set aside for self-examination. There has been a year of human activity, in which the nature of man has had free play. And on this day, the penitents know that they have sinned and say so in common confession.

There can only be transgression, if there is law. Therefore, the very act of common confession, in a house of worship, among one's family and neighbors, is an acknowledgment of the authority of God's law.

This year many will ask themselves what the meaning can be of such a day in the continuing horrors which face not only mankind but each family. They thought that they were through with war. They believed that they no longer would live in the dread fear of losing their sons to Goliath. They hoped that somehow, perhaps by means of the United Nations, peoples would learn to live at peace.

Last year, during the day of atonement, there seemed to be jubilation in many hearts. The savagery of war was almost forgotten. This year, there will be the usual roll call of the dead—of those dead whose young lives were spilled on the hillsides of Korea.

And some will ask: How have I sinned that this has had to happen to me?

AND OTHERS will wonder about retribution and what it can really mean. Can there be a world of love when we seem to plant only the seeds of hate? Can there be a brotherhood of man when we plow with swords and reap with tanks and airplanes?

What makes such things come to pass? Few will confess that it is their own unwillingness to face the truth that there is in this world good and evil; that good is that which abides by the natural law of God; that evil is that which, denying God, leaves life without morality, without justice or right. And that between these two there never can be any compromise.

This we do not like to admit, because it makes life hard and rigid. We prefer an easier way, a live-and-let-live way, appeasing what is obviously wrong, improvising to meet pressures, sacrificing established principles to avoid conflict and dissension. And yet such a course can only bring in its wake greater discord, greater dissension, even war.

Should a news column comment upon such subjects as this? It is not as much news that many millions on this day unite in public confession of transgression as it is that such a creature as Jakob Malik parrots the lies he is instructed to speak—without will, without conscience, without humanity? What is greater news than that all our miseries have not destroyed our faith that justice will triumph and the truth will prevail, if we only follow God's guidance?

Always on this day, I ponder these problems of life. It is good to pause, to rest from all the excitement which surrounds us. It is good to examine not only one's own conduct, but one's communal conduct.

THIS IS such a glorious country in which to live. Despite its politicians and tricksters and all the greedy men who scheme and plan. And what do they gain?

Since 1943, men in this country have been covering their errors. Those errors already have cost millions of lives consigned to slavery and thousands of lives killed in this current war.

But what about those who erred? What about the men of Teheran and Yalta? They have to live with the course of events which they helped to engineer. We may wonder at their motives. But they know what impelled them and their colleagues to reduce Poland and China to bondage; to keep Germany in turmoil; to destroy the liberties of Czechoslovakia and Hungary; to imperil our own land by not preventing the war in Asia.

Would that we had a tradition in this country similar to that of the day of atonement, so that our politicians, instead of speaking against each other, would rise and confess to their transgressions.

Impractical? Has anything in history been more impractical than Teheran, Yalta and Potsdam where errors were made which may take centuries of effort and millions of lives to overcome? The practical men so often do such impractical things.

It Was A Good Day

By Don Whitehead

NEAR SEOUL THE NORTH KOREAN soldier came marching down the road—stark naked. He was young and stockily built and limped painfully into captivity.

The bullet had hit the fleshy part of his left leg, leaving a small hole where it entered and a jagged wound where it had emerged. The Marine bullet had felled him when he tried to run away.

A Leatherneck walked behind him with a rifle pointed at his back. And then the Marine ordered the naked soldier to sit beside the road while an interpreter questioned him.

The Leatherneck glared at the young Communist who had blood smeared on his face and who cowered with his hands clasped behind his head.

Private (1c) Joseph Sala of Sacramento, Calif., said:

"That guy shot the sergeant. He got the sergeant right above the heart. He didn't live long."

Young Sala stared at the Red.

"He had on civilian clothes when we shot him, but the boys stripped him and sent him down the hill," the private continued.

The interpreter finished his questions and the Marine snarled:

"Take him to the stockade. Take him back before I..."

And they took the Red soldier away.

Up on a hillside in his command post Colonel Lewis B. (Chesty) Puller of Saluda, Va., sat in a graveyard looking at his maps. The colonel is a tough, leathery little man who still is fighting at 50 years of age after 33 years with the Marines. He could wear a chest full of medals for heroism on such places as New Britain, Pelelieu and other Pacific spots.

On his maps, Colonel Puller traced the progress of his men from the point of their dawn attack to the hill where the sergeant was shot down late in the day.

Except for the sergeant, it had been a good day—and his men on the ridges could look across the valley and see Seoul in the distance.

Now It Can Be Told

By David Lawrence

NOW IT CAN be told—the story of a great naval armada of more than 300 ships assembled on short notice and delivering two full strength divisions of troops at Inchon for a successful landing under the protection of American naval guns and naval air power.

One of the two divisions, composed of army troops, was transported by the Navy from points in the Pacific. But to land the other division composed of U. S. Marines, necessitated a movement virtually around the world. From the Mediterranean and through the Suez Canal went U. S. Marines protected by American cruisers and destroyers.

Just before the naval forces and Marines started from their stations in the Mediterranean, reinforcements of Marines likewise went from the United States to replace the Mediterranean forces that had been ordered to the Far East so that the departure and replacement movements occurred simultaneously.

But this feat—a conspicuous demonstration of the mobility of the United States Navy—was not the only example of mobility. The same Marines who were fighting in South Korea on Monday were on Friday fighting their way into Seoul from Inchon.

They had been withdrawn from the front line, replaced by Army troops and loaded on ships at a South Korean port and brought together on the west coast of Korea with other Marine units from the Mediterranean and the United States and then put into action as a full strength division.

They did not need any new training or maneuvers. It now turns out that the Marine brigade fighting in South Korea for the last several weeks went there merely as a stop-gap to help plug the line, but was designed from the beginning to join other units in the amphibious or ship-to-shore operation just completed at Inchon, though planned last June.

On Guard

Hindsight May Provide Foresight

By Mark Sullivan

WITH ONLY six weeks left of the congressional campaign, there is still discussion about whether and to what extent foreign relations should be an issue.

Spokesmen in behalf of the administration say it should not. Republican spokesmen, while stating carefully that the party will support our war effort "to the hilt," declared that the administration's foreign policy will be discussed in the campaign.

On this, as on many public matters, there is light in history. In this case very recent history. During the war the Republicans—in the Senate foreign relations committee, in Congress as a whole, and during elections—followed a nonpartisan policy, a policy of keeping foreign relations out of domestic politics.

After the war, this attitude was continued in Congress and in large part was continued into the presidential campaign of 1948, between candidates Truman and Dewey. Mr. Dewey supported the administration policy of giving aid to European countries to help them resist communism on that continent. About the administration's policy toward China, however, Mr. Dewey was critical. In a campaign speech he said: "Our government watches... China... rapidly being overrun... We must bring an end to the tragic neglect of... China."

THAT MENTION by Mr. Dewey of the Truman administration's policy about China was rather allusive. He did not press it and the policy was not made an issue in the campaign. Had it been an issue, had the country been fully informed about what the administration was doing, much subsequent grief might have been averted, including what is going on in Korea today.

The information existed. What the country lacked was awareness of it, such as could have been brought about by emphasis on it in the 1948 campaign.

Preceding the Truman administration, President Roosevelt in February, 1945, at Yalta had made a secret agreement with Stalin by which Russia was promised that after Japan should be conquered Russia would be given Manchuria, a part of China which Japan had seized. This, with other advantages given to Russia in the Yalta agreement, gave leverage and momentum to the Russian Communist drive to overcome China.

This advantage to Russian communism was of course a corresponding and terrible disadvantage to the Nationalist government of China under Chiang Kai-shek, a virtually fatal handicap to its resistance to communism.

The handicap was increased by the policy the Truman administration adopted toward Chiang and the Nationalist government. The administration declared that he should enter into a coalition government with the Communists. And when he did not, it suspended military and other aid we had been giving him during the war. Had all this been made plain during the presidential campaign of 1948 or otherwise, it would have been deeply offensive to the American people. And many of them would have grasped what experts knew, the future military consequences which the fall of China to Russian communism would have for us, consequences of which the beginning is now actual in Korea.

WITH THE immunity President Truman had from defense of his China policy in the 1948 campaign, he was free to focus on domestic issues, to appeal to the self-interest of groups.

This he flagrantly did. To labor and to farmers he said, in the speech in which he accepted the nomination for president, that if they did not support him they would be "the most ungrateful people in the world." The appeal was especially successful in the case of farmers. To them Mr. Truman promised, in addition to existing favors by government, a new one, government provision of storage facilities for crops. By this narrow class and sectional appeal Mr. Truman carried six Midwestern states which had formerly been strongly Republican and which in 1948 provided the margin of electoral votes by which he won.

Had the administration's China policy been an issue in the 1948 campaign, had it been made plain and paramount to the voters by Republican criticism of it and defense thereby forced upon the administration, it is possible the farmers, made aware of this great national issue, would not have subordinated it to a group self-interest.

It is not necessarily material whether making the administration's China policy an issue in the 1948 campaign would have changed the outcome. The emphasis on the importance of it and the public enlightenment about it would have been vitally useful, even after the Russian Communist drive to overtake China had reached the stage at which it was in 1948.

It might have averted the administration's later and especially damaging actions detrimental to Chiang's Nationalist government. By hindsight, it is evident that no service was done the country by the Republicans' abstention from making any aspect of foreign policy an issue in the 1948 campaign. The hindsight may provide foresight in the present campaign.

Will Germany Stay Divided?

By Dewitt Mackenzie

NEW YORK THE DECISION of the "Big Three" powers—Britain, France and America—to end their protected state of war with western Germany is a strategic move calculated to maintain peace and to strengthen the defenses of western Europe.

Its terms constitute a warning to Russia not to interfere with western Germany. Indeed, the "Big Three" say bluntly that any attack on Berlin or western Germany will be regarded as an attack on them as occupying powers.

This means, so far as present indications go, that the old Reich will remain divided upon its present lines indefinitely.

Russia's eastern zone of 46,600 square miles, with its population of 17,300,000, will continue as a Communist satellite of Moscow. The western zone—96,300 square miles, with a population of 49,700,000—will function separately under its Bonn government, with the "Big Three" continuing occupation.

But will Germany remain divided permanently? I don't believe so. The Germans are a clanish folk and it's in the book that some time in the distant future these two portions of the fatherland will coalesce, by force or otherwise.

The "Big Three" decision not to end military occupation of the country serves a double purpose. It is a safeguard against Germany building up a war potential which would permit of further aggression. It is a protection for the unarmed and at present defenseless country.

Godfrey And The War

ARTHUR GODFREY has been commissioned by President Truman as a full commander in the naval reserve. Now if Harry wants to try out on the talent scout program it's O.K. Seriously, to millions of radio fans the commissioning of Godfrey is the most important event of the war. There are air wave addicts who think the redhead should have been chosen over General Marshall for Lou Johnson's job. Marshall is good, they reason, but comparatively speaking nobody knows the guy. In their opinion, the commission puts the war in the tea bag.

Godfrey is an old navy lad. And on top of that he is an outstanding civilian airman. In these days it is the big show world personalities who command wide influence and affection, and, in addition to this, the commissioning of a man like Godfrey solves the whole problem of war costs. Arthur is only a half game behind Fort Knox financially. Let him pay the bill. He can afford it.

OUR HUNCH is that he is a real fighting man. Where there is smoke there is fire. This also goes for soup and tea. But if we were Harry Truman, we would put Arthur in that one spot that cries out for him. We would make him star of the Voice of America program, with which Washington is having so much trouble.

He is a natural for the job. What is needed above everything else on "The Voice" is one top air wave personality. We would tie up the redhead for daily broadcasts for the promotion of democracy, freedom, the brotherhood of man and a return to a sense of humor in the large economy package in world relationships. Call him "Potomac Arthur" or "Pentagon Rusty" or something like that on the global mike.

Godfrey can do for democracy what he has done for cigarettes and tea. He certainly can sell the U. S. A. as well as he can sell noodle soup. And the job today is to sell truth and honor "by the carton".

ALL THAT Tokyo Rose and her radio ilk did for evil in the last war a man like Godfrey could do for truth and light, operating only a few minutes once or twice a day. For radio work you need radio aces.

Incidentally, we wish President Truman's first act in connection with the commissioning of Godfrey would be to draft him for the job of instructing him in radio technique. The President's fireside chat style is minor league. He runs his sentences together, lets one thought telescope another and lacks the fire called for from the White House at a time when swaying the republic is of paramount importance. If Harry could manage to acquire a little of the Godfrey poise and sense of timing, the American war effort could be helped tremendously. Come on, Arthur! Come on, Harry! Get together! You each have something the other could use.

Won't Hit All At Once

A Few Pointers On Your Tax Increase

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21—Here are a few highlights about the new income tax increase. It ranges from 20½ per cent on people in the lowest-income brackets to 11½ per cent on those in the highest.

But this increase won't hit you all at once. The full increase will be applied only to your 1951 income, not your income this year. On your 1950 income only one-quarter of the increase is applied.

For example: Say you're in the lowest bracket now and the increase on you will be 20½ per cent.

When it comes time to settle up in full on your 1950 income tax, you'll find that the increase is only one-quarter of 20½ per cent.

But in 1952, when you settle up on 1951 income, you'll find your tax has been raised 20½ per cent on your whole 1951 income.

THIS SOUNDS complicated and a reader's first impression is probably something like this: "What a headache I'm going to have when I make my tax return on 1950 income."

Not so. Most people will do as they've been doing for years. They'll get a receipt from their boss on the tax withheld from them during the year. Then, without any figuring of their own, they'll turn it into the tax collector, together with a simple form that they must fill out.

He'll check it over to see that it's right. If they've been over-taxed, he'll give them a refund. If they still owe some tax, he'll notify them.

Then there are those who use the so-called 1040 short form. Although they don't figure out their tax, they find it in the table on the back.

They'll do the same when—before midnight, March 15, 1951—they file their tax return on 1950 income. They'll do nothing differently but—The figures in those tables, because of the tax increase, will be a little higher. And then there's the third group, as in the past, the people who must figure their own tax. They'll do exactly as in the past. The only difference will be in the percentages.

THIS WILL give an example of how the tax will be increased on 1950 income only one-quarter of what it will be on 1951 income.

Jones, a single man, has a net income after deductions of $3,000. That has been his salary for several years and will be for sometime.

In 1950—when he made his return on 1949 income—his tax was $409.

In 1951—when he makes his return on 1950 income—his tax will be $428.

ering the burial noted it was the right leg that had been fractured. If it was Booth's right leg that was broken, Colonel Mudd said in an address to the Columbia Historical Society, the slit-open left boot at his grandfather's trial constituted conflicting rather than convicting evidence.

Poll Shows Indifference To Expensive Funerals

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UP)—"How expensive a funeral would you desire?" was the question.

Most people are rather indifferent, but generally prefer a low-cost funeral, a survey made at Texas Technological College indicated.

Most of those interviewed wanted members of their family to have better funerals than they personally desired.

Of the 106 persons interviewed, 80 per cent said they didn't mind being buried in a "non-exclusive" section of the cemetery.

About half the polled group wanted a burial costing $350 or less.

Ohio Cracks Down Upon Truckers

COLUMBUS, Sept. 21 (AP)—Interstate truckers who violate state safety regulations will be barred from Ohio's highways, the Public Utilities Commission has announced.

The commission is launching a safety campaign against trucking companies whose operators have been arrested repeatedly for violations.

Backing up its statement, the commission cited 15 trucking firms in Ohio, Michigan, Illinois, Indiana and New York to show cause why they should not be barred from Ohio highways. The firms have 15 days in which to answer the commission.

Most of the violations referred to by the commission concern the lack of fire extinguishers on trucks, the carrying of passengers and the obscuring or not carrying PUCO identification.

The commission said many more citations will be issued within the next few weeks.

$78 In Merchandise Stolen From Grocery

Burglars looted a Lisbon St. grocery of approximately $78 in merchandise Wednesday night or early today, police reported.

The Robinson Grocery, operated by Lois Robinson, 918 St. Clair Ave., was robbed between 11 p. m. and 8:30 a. m. by intruders who forced a cellar door, police said.

The loss included 30 cartons of cigarettes, 10 boxes of candy bars, eight cartons of chewing gum, six large sacks of potato chips and a half box of stogies, officers said.

The luffa, or loofah, is sometimes called the dishcloth gourd because its fiber takes up water like a sponge.

Official Unveiling Friday

Nash Puts '51 Creations On Display

Here is the new Nash sedan, showing elongated rear fenders.

THE new Nash models for 1951, featuring distinctive styling and a number of mechanical improvements, will be unveiled to the public Friday at the showrooms of Chuck Kennedy Nash agency, 610 Walnut St.

First of Nash Motors' 1951 Airflyte line to be announced, the new Ambassador and Statesman sedans and club coupes will sell in the low-medium and medium price ranges.

Low-price Nash Rambler custom convertibles and station wagons were introduced earlier this year.

Notable 1951 model design changes include new front end styling and elongated rear fenders that form streamlined vertical fins. The rear fenders create an appearance of greater length with a racy horizontal line from front fenders to the upper tip of rear fenders.

Tail and directional lamps, moved outward from trunk lid location of 1950 models, now are mounted in rear fenders. The trunk lid's chrome trim incorporates a flush-type lock and indirect lighting for the license plate.

The Ambassador has a 115-horsepower high compression six-cylinder overhead valve engine. Compression ratio is 7.3:1 with 234.8 cubic inches of displacement. As higher octane gasoline becomes available, the compression ratio can be increased accordingly. The engine has the new type U-Flex oil metering piston rings and a seven-bearing crankshaft for smoothest performance.

The Statesman is powered by an L-Head, six-cylinder engine of 85-horsepower. The Statesman engine has a sealed-in, water-heated intake manifold giving superior control of mixture temperatures.

Nash again features "Airflyte" body construction, claimed by Nash engineers to provide greater riding comfort, lifelong quietness and safety. The essential difference in this type of construction, says Nash, is that body and frame are combined into a single welded unit of unusual strength, offering maximum collision protection to passengers.

Improvements have been made in the Nash "Weather Eye" automatic heating, ventilating and defrosting mechanism, resulting in greater air circulation to the passenger compartment. Fresh air is scooped in under pressure through a large intake on the cowl, passes through a dust trapping filter, and then is heated or allowed to enter the car unheated for draftless ventilation. The system employs three blowers for defrosting and for air circulation when standing or when car is moving slowly.

reached for comment. President Thomas H. Bossert is en route to Washington to talk with government officials.

Taft Expects G.O.P. Victory

Tells Convention New Deal End Near

ing the party to "honest, fair and sincere consideration of all the problems affecting the common good of the whole people".

The party's state executive and central committee voted to back Henry A. Middleton of Toledo, former Lucas county common pleas judge, in a write-in election for a vacancy on the Ohio Supreme Court.

Mr. Taft, in one of his bitterest speeches of the campaign, said Democrats "from all over the na-is too much power in the New Deal in Washington for the good of the people".

He also warned against infiltration of communism in labor unions, school and government.

Mr. Ebright said that the administration of his Democratic opponent, Governor Frank J. Lausche, is tied in directly with the Truman administration.

"To get rid of the national mess in Washington," he added, "the voters have to start housecleaning at home."

The streamlined G.O.P. platform was the chief order of the day.

The text follows: "We, the Republican party of Ohio, feel the time has come for forthright, honest political thinking and action in state and national affairs. It is, therefore, particularly fitting that Ohio lead the way into an era of honesty and integrity in political thinking and action in this day when political expediency is the rule rather than the exception."

"In these times of tragic uncertainty no one can know today the problems that will arise tomorrow. It is our conviction that that party which promises all things to all groups to win votes renders itself useless as a servant of the people and a menace to the state and nation.

"The Republican party pledges honest, fair and sincere consideration of all the problems affecting the common good of the whole people."

"We, the Republican party of Ohio, in convention assembled, endorse and commend to the voters of Ohio Honorable Don H. Ebright for governor and all candidates for state office, Honorable Robert A. Taft for United States senator and the candidates for the national House of Representatives, and all other candidates for district and county office, nominated and endorsed by the party."

Meanwhile, in Cincinnati, Walter Reuther, president of the C. I. O. automobile workers, called Mr. Taft the "spiritual leader of reactionary forces in this country."

Mr. Virgil Spiegel, 3032 Colerain Ave., Cincinnati, Ohio, a driver for Alber's Supermarkets, is confident that today he is doing the best job he has ever done in his life. That is because he says he has never felt better. To be first rate on the job, a man has to be in top notch condition. He attributes his feeling of well being to HADACOL because his system lacked those necessary vitamins B1, B2, Iron, and Nicotin.

Here is Mr. Spiegel's own statement: "Before I started taking HADACOL I was told I had a nervous stomach. I took many pills and many other 'remedies'—nothing gave me effective relief. It affected my sleep, too—I would doze off and then wake up at the least little thing. I had a lot of gas on my stomach and it burned clear up in my chest. I was just beside myself in knowing just what to do. I heard how other folks having the same trouble I did were being helped by HADACOL. I started taking HADACOL and after the 2nd bottle of HADACOL I noticed an improvement. Now I am in first rate shape. I sleep well, have no more gas pains and the best thing is that my nervous stomach has completely cleared up. I can't thank HADACOL enough."

It Isn't Too Late to try HADACOL as thousands of other folks suffering from such deficiencies have done and benefited tremendously from HADACOL. Why there are even hundreds of doctors who are now recommending HADACOL to their patients whose systems lack vitamins B1, B2, Iron, and Nicotin. If you suffer from stomach distress, nervousness, insomnia, constipation, heartburns, or a general run-down condition, caused by such deficiencies, give HADACOL a chance to help you. Remember, you have nothing to lose. HADACOL will make you feel great after the first few bottles you take, or your money will be refunded. Only $1.25 for Trial Size. Large Family or Hospital Size $3.50.

Summer Marches Into Autumn

Koreans Also Fight Battle Of Harvest

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

TAEGU, Korea, Sept. 21 — Nature has turned a corner in Korea. The fortunes of war here may ebb or flow by what Congress votes in Washington or the factories do in Detroit or how many fresh troops the United Nations can raise to fill the blood-ranks still spread so thinly on the high eroded hills but the eternal cycle of the seasons goes on undisturbed. And summer is now marching into autumn in response to a rhythm older than either the hatreds or loves of mankind. Every living thing pulses to a new beat. There are still a few hot days, but the deadly heat of August is gone. No longer does the harsh sun suck water from the very bones of soldiers toiling in the mountains and cause them to faint up the slopes. The air holds a hint of October.

THE FINAL rains are falling. They have brought a last bright surge of color to the paddies where the ripening rice bends in rippling pattern and every Midwestern American boy who sees them feels sick for the wheat fields of home. For the winds make just such widening waves through the crops that grow in the prairies he remembers.

There is a silent and invisible race going on between the ripening grain and the struggling armies.

It is less than a month until harvest time, but enemy troops still hold the southwest provinces which are the great rice basket of Korea. And unless the enemy is driven out much of the crop may spoil ungathered, a disaster which could cost more lives by starvation than have been lost in battle. To the Koreans, the outcome of this race in the southwest means more right now than the recapture of Seoul.

For peace and real self-rule are only secondary dreams to millions here for whom the threat of an empty rice bowl is a lifelong nightmare.

But his drama of potential famine is still merely an interior fear, generated by man's ability to forget his future well-being by estimating his potential food supply.

THE EYE cannot catch it. It is swept only by the lushness of a land beautiful beyond belief at present—a land where the year is at its peak.

Late blooming flowers spread their petals to catch the waning power of the sun. Apples redden in the orchards and the delicate rice plants nod heads suddenly too heavy for their frail stems. The blue sentinel hills at dusk.

Great clouds float serenely over alien eyes. They don't feel it. And the peasant girl looks shyly long to them and therefore, they see it but dimly. They aren't.

The earth has given its best here for loneliness. It only makes and is getting ready for a long time more lonely. At twilight I flew through a sleep. It cares no more whether men waste or use its wealth than darkening Korean sky. Before us it does whether these same men a river wound in silvery peace in dance up glee together upon its to a distant mist and lights began hills or spend their blood and to gleam like fireflies in the far villages.

It may be beautiful, said the pilot, but if someone gave me one hundred thousand acres of it I would give it right back to him for a one-way ticket home.

Yule Parcel For Overseas Should Be Mailed By Nov. 15

FIGURING on sending G. I. Joe a Christmas parcel?

Then you better get it mailed before Nov. 15 if he's overseas, or Santa's liable to miss connections. The armed services and the Post Office Department said that if your man is in Japan or Korea, it is safer to mail before Nov. 1, and for extremely remote outposts, a deadline of Oct. 1 is suggested.

Sending greeting cards first class, observing the same deadlines.

Packages may weigh up to 70 pounds. Their length plus their girth should not exceed 100 inches.

Exception — Packages to A. P. O.'s 124 and 125, care of Postmaster, N. Y., N. Y., should not exceed 50 pounds and should be correspondingly smaller.

Containers should be metal, wood or stout fiber board.

Addresses should be written directly on the outside of the package, not on a gummed label. Since some packages break open and spill on the post office floor, it's a good precaution to place another address, together with a list of contents, on a paper and put this inside the package.

If the addressee is in the Army or Air Force, give his full name, rank, serial number, branch of service, organization, A. P. O. number and post city post office through which the mail is being routed.

If the addressee is in the Navy or Marines, give full name, rank or rating, unit to which he is attached and the Navy number assigned to the unit, or the name of his ship and the fleet post office to which the mail is to be routed. Don't send matches or lighter fluid. Cigarettes and tobacco are all right except to addressee in Austria, England, France, Germany, Italy and Trieste, the Post Office said.

OHIO MAN LOST 28 LBS. WIFE LOSES 32 LBS.

Willoughby Couple Praise Renel

"I believe in giving credit where credit belongs, and that is to Renel," writes Mr. L. Erdman, 36 Parkway Drive, Willoughby, Ohio. "Before taking Renel my wife and I had tried a number of weight reducing preparations with little or no results. We looked like a couple of 'Shmoos'. However, with Renel my wife has lost 32 lbs. and I have lost 28. The best part of all is this: we did not have to starve ourselves. Imagine, eat plenty and lose weight with this simple yet effective amazing home recipe. After purchasing a bottle of Renel from your druggist pour the contents into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it. No diets to complicate your meal planning. No expensive vitamins to fortify your system from weakness while going without food for you can eat normally. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose pounds of bulky fat and help regain slender, more youthful curves—if reducible excess fat doesn't seem to disappear almost like magic, just return the empty bottle to the manufacturer for your money back. Don't be switched to another product, insist on and be sure to get the genuine Renel. "Kand's Drug Store and other leading Drug Stores"

Landlord Seeks K.O.
Tenant Wins Another Bout In Eviction Case
Percy Gloss of Drain St., the tenacious eviction defendant, won a second round Wednesday in his court battle to retain the home he rents for $4 monthly, but it looks like the landlord will score a legal k. o. shortly.
It was a short-lived hearing yesterday before Municipal Judge George L. Brokaw on the eviction action filed against the old-age pensioner by his landlord, Earl Tucker, also of Drain St.
Mr. Gloss' counsel, Attorney Andrew J. Coleman, discovered that the landlord had failed to sign the petition for the case. That called for an automatic dismissal.
It left Mr. Tucker with two alternatives.
He can file another eviction action by going through the complicated paperwork with the court and the Area Rent Control Office at Wheeling.
Or he can force the tenant to leave — and much more quickly — through a state law that makes it a criminal offense to remain in a building that has been condemned by the State Fire Marshal's office and ordered destroyed.
That's what started the eviction action in the first place. Mr. Tucker was served with a state order July 12 requiring him to tear down within 30 days the home Mr. Gloss occupies.
He started to raze the place without benefit of an eviction order, so he wound up in court Aug. 31 under a trespassing charge Mr. Gloss filed. At the time, the judge commented that Mr. Tucker is a "benefactor" to Mr. Gloss and his wife for giving them such low rent. He suggested the couple vacate as soon as possible.
Then came the civil action for eviction.
Judge Brokaw said the land-

WHEN IN ROME. Of course United Airlines Stewardess Bonnie Rydard doesn't look at all like an ancient Roman, or ancient anything else. However, she's demonstrating with an antique Roman water clock from the Chicago Museum of Science and Industry how those oldtimers would have set their clocks back an hour on Sunday, Sept. 24. It all adds up to a reminder of the change from daylight to standard time.

Super-Fast Cargo Ships Eyed For Combat Areas

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21 (AP)—A program for building super-speed cargo ships capable of traveling in combat zones without escort is under active consideration by federal maritime officials. Informed sources said the aim is to get cargo carriers capable of outspeeding submarines and fast enough to dodge torpedoes and make attacks from the air more difficult.

The fact that a whole group of ships traveling in convoy could be wiped out by a single atomic bomb has whetted interest in turning out cargo vessels speedy enough to travel unaccompanied. A Maritime Administration official said a program for building such ships on a substantial scale is now in the "planning stage", with attention being given to special designing for resistance to attack.

Kid Gang Gets $20,000 In Chicago Bank Holdup

CHICAGO, Sept. 21 (AP)—Three "kid" gunmen working with clock-like precision staged a quickie five-minute bank robbery yesterday that netted them $20,000.

They locked nine bank officials, employees and customers in the bank's vault section and fled with all the bills in sight, ignoring the heavier silver.

"They didn't miss more than five bills," remarked Edwin J.

Becker, assistant cashier, of the South Holland Trust & Savings Bank in suburban South Holland.

The kids could have passed as seniors in high school or freshmen in college," Mr. Becker added.

The bank does not employ a guard.

The imprisoned persons freed themselves 10 minutes after the gunmen left by prying the grill door lock loose.

Robert Tonneff, tackle from Barberton, O., is the heaviest player on 1950 Notre Dame team, at 235 pounds.

Killer Or A Prankster?

Whistler Still At Large; Bride-To-Be Collapses

PARADIS, La., Sept. 21 (AP)—This little bayou community bustled with excitement today watching for a phantom whistler whose weird serenades have terrorized an 18-year-old bride-to-be. Nearly all of the village's 200 population peered out of windows last night while a cordon of sheriff's deputies guarded the home of Jacquelyn Cadow.

For the last few days the townspeople have talked of little except the intruder who threatened the girl's life and vowed to prevent her marriage to a young state trooper. Opinion is divided over whether the nocturnal whistler is a prankster, a would-be killer or a lunatic.

His whistle is a shrill interpretation of a funeral dirge. State police, who were drawn into the investigation by State Trooper Herbert Belson of New Orleans, Jacquelyn's husband-to-be, said they are stepping out of the case.

"We are convinced it is the work of a prankster," Trooper Vincent B. Ebeler said. State Police Sergeant N. J. Khoury said the Cadow home yesterday took on the appearance of a mecca. Hundreds of curiosity seekers in automobiles paused for a look at the scene of the whistler's visits—a cottage surrounded by moss-draped oaks.

A doctor attended the young bride-to-be, who collapsed Tuesday night after she and her mother's sister and a New Orleans reporter all said they twice heard the intruder's funeral whistle.

The reporter, Roy Heinecke, joined Trooper Belson in a search of the Cadow yard, but found nothing.

"The family doesn't seem to have any enemies," said Sheriff Leon Vial. "It is either a crazy person or someone close to the family who has something against them that we don't know about."

The girl's mother, Mrs. Clifford Cadow, said it started with whistled wolf calls last February. Two months ago, when Jacquelyn's engagement to the 26-year-old trooper was announced, the mother said she received telephoned threats.

"I'll kill her. I'll stick a knife in her. Your daughter will never marry Herbert," Mrs. Cadow quoted the caller. The wedding is set for Oct. 1.

"I'll marry Herbert if police have to escort me up the aisle," Jacquelyn says.

Polio Kills Lauterbach, War Reporter, Editor

NEW YORK, Sept. 21 (AP)—Richard E. Lauterbach, 36, foreign correspondent, author and editor, died yesterday of polio at Willard Parker Hospital.

Mr. Lauterbach was a former senior editor of Life magazine and was its chief correspondent in Russia, where he covered the war from the Russian front in 1942 and 1943. He was a graduate of Dewitt Clinton High School, Dartmouth College and was a Nieman fellow at Harvard University. He worked for the New York Star in 1948-49.

His books were These Are The Russians, Through Russia's Back Door and Danger From The East. He is survived by his widow, the former Elizabeth S. Wardwell; three children, Jennifer, Ann and David, and by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Morton Lauterbach. He was a native of New York City.

Nurses Remember Code, Withdraw Resignations

MT. PLEASANT, Pa., Sept. 21 (AP)—Thirty-four nurses at Frick Memorial Hospital in this western Pennsylvania community remembered their ethical code yesterday and withdrew mass resignations.

The nurses had threatened to resign unless their present monthly salary of $140 was raised to $180, with meals and laundry optional.

But two representatives of the Pennsylvania Nurses Association appealed to the women to remember their code of ethics as nurses. Two members of the hospital board of trustees said they will present the demands before a board meeting.

Power Union O.K.'s Accord

Men Resume Work At Ohio Edison Plants

AKRON, Sept. 21 (AP)—Their strike ended, members of the C.I.O. Utility Workers of America returned today to their jobs with the Ohio Edison Co.

They voted last night, 787 to 121, to accept a contract worked out in Washington. The pact includes a general wage increase of 12 cents an hour, of which 4½ cents is retroactive to July 1.

The strike had been started last Friday against the company which provides electricity for a section of northeast Ohio populated by more than a million persons.

The new pact replaces a contract which expired June 30. It will run until July, 1952, with a provision for new wage talks next July.

Other benefits in the contract include a three-week vacation after 15 years' service and an improved pension plan.

Votes were cast by union members here, at Youngstown and at Toronto, the three cities where the company has its power-producing plants. The ballots were later tabulated here.

The union has about 800 members 430 at Youngstown and 225 at Toronto.

The Show Of Shows

SID CAESAR IS ONE of the wonders of this modern electronic age. Where all the other comics are moaning about the tremendous drain television exerts on material, Mr. Caesar has more genuinely funny comedy sequences than he knows what to do with in a week.

All of which is an introduction to the fact that Your Show of Shows, a title about which I have grave reservations, is back on the air again, a full hour and a half of it (N.B.C.-TV 9 p. m., Saturdays). And a fine, luscious production it is.

Along with Mr. Caesar, Your S. of S. offers Imogene Coca, a very engaging and hard-working comic who is almost a perfect foil for Mr. Caesar's enormously expressive face, some of the best ballet numbers on TV and usually a guest or two of considerable importance.

STILL IT'S pretty much Mr. Caesar's show. The quality of his comedy is extraordinarily high. All his routines are something clearly recognizable as an extension of something that has happened in your life.

Mr. Caesar, for example trying to direct his boss to his house by telephone—"Well, where are you now? . . . No, you better get back on the ferry and take the parkway"—is something that has happened to almost anyone who has ever lived in the country.

Or take Mr. Caesar and Miss Coca discussing their children on the opening day of school, both of them brimful of platitudes about child-rearing. No parent will recognize himself but he will undoubtedly recognize every other parent in this little tidbit.

I go on at some length about this because there is very little honest comedy around these days. When, for example, Eddie Cantor employs a sketch about selling a man a suit with a belt in the back, he is reaching way back to a period when, I suppose, in short, tailors existed that way. They don't any more and that particular sketch is not, as a consequence, honest comedy.

On the other hand, Mr. Caesar appears to have looked at the world around him and fashioned his comedy out of what he sees in people, not what he saw on the stage 30 years ago. He is still at his best with a monologue, and even better when he doesn't say a word.

Mr. Caesar imitating a woman

One-Day Diary Of Trip To Kimpo

It Takes A Lot Of Time To Get Nowhere In War

By BILL ROSS, Associated Press Staff Writer
KIMPO AIRFIELD, Korea (Delayed) — It often takes a lot of time to cover a very few miles in a war like this. You meet a lot of people and see and learn a lot of things. You can also spend hours in ditches and holes with bullets pinging overhead. This is a one-day diary of a trip to Kimpo airport from Incheon.

9 a. m.—With General MacArthur, members of his staff and other correspondents we have a look at six burned-out Communist tanks. They were knocked out in a battle with Marine Patton tanks less than two hours ago and are still burning.

While General MacArthur chats with fellow officers, Marine Private (1c) Frank Adams Jr. of Frederick, Md., tells me of the fight.

"They just kept coming around the curve through the pass and about 200 infantry troops were with them. We just kept potting away at them."

Sergeant William A. Richardson of San Antonio, Tex., told much the same story.

9:20 a. m.—General MacArthur leaves for the rear. But I came down the road toward Kimpo with a Marine infantry outfit. A sharp exchange of small arms fire clatters just ahead.

Captain George C. Westover of Wichita, Kan., stops to tell his battle plan for the day. His company is to swing left off the main road and move toward Kimpo. So I walk with him until I meet three other correspondents.

10:50 a. m.—We can see Kimpo airfield about four miles distant. The air strip looks deserted and the administration building and hangars appear gutted and burned out.

11:27 a. m.—We are in a ditch. A Communist—somewhere down the road—sent us there when he opened up with small arms fire. Tanks and infantrymen move out to clean up the resistance pocket.

A sharp exchange of fire breaks out to our right as Marines push North Koreans from the ridge flanks. These Reds are the remnants of the tank-supported column that tried to break

Plan Hunted For Cutting Off Economic Aid

House Leaders Hope For Vote Today On Blow To Iron Curtain

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21 (AP)—House leaders probed today for a plan acceptable to President Truman which would deny U. S. economic aid to nations sending war potential goods behind the iron curtain.

They hope to have it in shape to receive bipartisan backing today when the House resumes consideration of a 17-billion-dollar defense appropriation bill.

The controversial provision is part of a compromise between differing versions passed previously by both chambers. President Truman yesterday voiced his open opposition, adding to that expressed previously by General Omar N. Bradley, joint chiefs of staff chairman, E.C.A. Administrator Paul Hoffman and William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor.

The amendment, sponsored by Senator Wherry (R) of Nebraska, says in effect that any nation receiving economic help from the United States shall lose that help if it exports to Russia or her satellites arms or commodities that can be used for military purposes. The ban would apply only while United States forces are "actively engaged in hostilities" to back up United Nations Security Council decisions.

House Republicans and many southern Democrats are strongly in favor of the Wherry amendment.

Administration forces had planned for a showdown vote yesterday, but a nose count indicated they could not knock the amendment from the bill.

So they put off a final decision until today. Chairman Cannon (D) of Missouri of the appropriations committee told newsmen he will have a compromise ready this afternoon.

Just what the compromise would provide, Mr. Cannon did not say. But he emphasized that it would "vitiate" (make ineffective) the Wherry amendment.

If it does, House Republican leader Martin of Massachusetts said, the G.O.P. forces won't accept it. Mr. Martin said the Republicans are willing to accept a compromise that would retain the principle of the Wherry amendment.

Bradley Hails Korean Fight

Says It Marks Birth Of U.N. As Power

DETROIT, Sept. 21 (AP) — General Omar N. Bradley says the Korean campaign has become one of the most significant in all military history.

This is so, he said in a speech yesterday to the Detroit Rotary Club, because it marks the birth of a new power in the world — "armed action by the United Nations".

General Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, said the Korean fighting also has demonstrated that communism has "shed even its pretense of peaceful intention".

Americans "had become victims of our own catch phrase 'cold war' with its illusion that communism is merely an opposing ideology", General Bradley continued.

He added that it will be America's own fault if its military preparations now are "halting, fumbling or of half measure".

But he warned Americans that "tension and sacrifice" may be "our normal way of life for many years to come".

"We face the fact that a large part of our income and effort will have to be devoted to preparations for defense," he added.

General Bradley said the Korean campaign is a military "miracle".

Senators Lash Civil Air Board

Get Slaps In During O.K. Of Appointee

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21 (AP) —Delos W. Rentzel's appointment to the Civil Aeronautics Board was approved yesterday by the Senate commerce committee after a hearing at which the board was sharply criticized.

Mr. Rentzel, a Texan who is administrator of the Civil Aeronautics Administration, was nominated by President Truman Tuesday to succeed Joseph J. O'Connell Jr. on the board.

Mr. O'Connell, who recently resigned, was chairman. Once Mr. Rentzel's appointment is confirmed by the Senate, Mr. Truman is expected to name him chairman.

Members of the Senate committee complained particularly about what they called the board's long delays in acting on applications for airline routes.

"Congress has been very dissatisfied with the operations of the CAB," said Senator Johnson (D) of Colorado, chairman of the interstate commerce committee.

Senators Magnuson (D) of Washington and Johnson (D) of Texas also were critical of the CAB, the latter accusing some members of the board of being prejudiced in favor of the big airlines.

The senators took it for granted that Mr. Rentzel will become chairman of the CAB and the Texas senator told him:

"I want you to tell the board that at least some members of this committee don't like their (CAB's) dilly-dallying and their prejudging of cases and expect them to keep this a land of opportunity."

Mr. Hart and Mr. Booz also are officers in Hart & Booz, Inc., distributors of farm equipment, which was incorporated recently. Charles W. Grove is the other officer.

Slaying Case Figure Wins Fight For Freedom

SOUTH PARIS, Me., Sept. 21 (AP)—A Superior Court justice yesterday ordered Francis M. Carroll, central figure in the celebrated Carroll-Dwyer murder case, freed from life imprisonment after 12 years.

Justice Albert Bellevue granted the 54-year-old Carroll's request for a writ of habeas corpus.

The state has no appeal from the order, which shattered Maine court precedent.

Mr. Carroll, a former Oxford county deputy sheriff, was imprisoned 12 years ago for the 1937 bludgeoning of Dr. James G. Littlefield at South Paris.

He contended at a recent hearing in Rumford that he had been sent to prison by fraud and deception and that his constitutional rights to a fair trial had been violated.

Housewives Combine To Clean Dirty Highway

LOGAN, O. (UP)—The ladies of West Logan like to have things tidy, even the street.

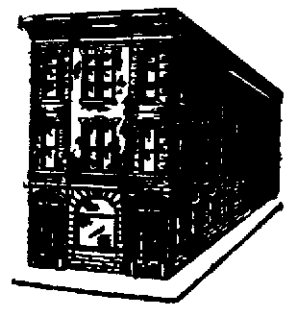

Traffic halted on Route 33 when angry housewives scrubbed the road for several hundred feet with their brooms and garden hoses after trucks moving earth from a nearby construction project had dirtied the highway.

They found it a hard task which ended with aching shoulders and blistered hands.

The women, a spokesman said, were tired of having dust from the highway blown into their homes. So they complained to the city and the highway department.

"When that brought no results, we decided to do the job ourselves," she said.

Ohio Cash Balance Put At 67 Million
COLUMBUS, Sept. 21 (AP)—The state of Ohio had a cash balance of $67,518,763 in its general revenue fund at the end of August. But most of the money already is earmarked for spending. State Finance Director Herbert D. Defenbacher reported this to Governor Frank J. Lausche in a financial report covering July and August. The general fund showed an increase of more than $5,000,000 at the end of August over July, Mr. Defenbacher said. He attributed the increase chiefly to receipts from the sales tax. The cash balance is what is left after current expenditures are paid. Mr. Defenbacher listed sales tax receipts for the two months ending Aug. 1 as $26,952,183. This was about $6,300,000 over the receipts in July and August of last year.

From Purgatory Of The Conquered
Germans Are Nearing End Of The Road Back
FRANKFURT, Sept. 21 (AP)—Forty-six million West Germans are emerging from the dark purgatory of the conquered. Their little capital, Bonn on the Rhine, is to be the seat of a revived world power. The heavy hand of foreign occupation rule already is cut to a thin shadow. Next year, unless all diplomatic omens are false, the West Germans will become masters in their own land and courted allies in the common defense of Europe. This is the meaning attributed here to the decisions reached at the "Big Three" foreign ministers' conference in New York. The communique which the U.S., British and French ministers issued there Tuesday is known to tell only part of the story. But even its guarded phrases are sweeping in their implications. Some obsolete agencies of western Allied authority still have to be junked. Suspicion of German war potentialities is not yet completely buried in Paris and London. But Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's advice to his countrymen now is "restraint and patience." He sees them nearing the end of the road back—an amazingly short road. Only five years ago, 100,000 captive German soldiers milled in a barbed wire enclosure near Dr. Adenauer's home. He could watch hungry German civilians beg for garbage from Allied troop kitchens. The conquerors were talking seriously of ruling a de-industrialized and agricultural Germany for generations. But today, Dr. Adenauer can name the first foreign minister of the year-old German federal republic—himself, if he wants to. He is preparing, with Allied approval, to enroll a mobile police force of 40,000. In weapons and training it is likely to be the equal of the Soviet zone's feared Volkspolizei (people's police). Another year and West Germany presumably will be building divisions for the western European army. Dr. Adenauer's prospective top aid in this is Count Gerhard von Schwerin, who commanded Panzer forces in read. Russia and the African desert. The lid is off German steel production, once tabbed for virtual extinction. The vast industrial Ruhr can fire up its reserve blast furnaces as long as it shows unfilled orders for western armament needs. The freeze is over, too, for German shipyards. No more limitations on commercial ships for buyers abroad. Who doubts that German purchasers will soon have the same right? The Allied military security board, which originally was ordered to keep West Germany disarmed until 1953, is almost out of a job. The time is past when Allied officials can dictate to the Germans how to draft laws, levy taxes, run newspapers or teach school. Instructed by their foreign ministers to liquidate most of their veto privileges, the Allied high commissioners face the ultimate prospect of becoming mere ambassadors. But in contemplating its quick resurgence, Germany cannot forget that the menace of a third world war is responsible for most of it. Communist aggression in Korea—a similarly divided country—is credited with putting off Allied policies for Germany into the final tailspin. Some Germans wonder suspiciously if they are being used as pawns in a Washington-Moscow struggle for supremacy. These say they want to stay neutral. Many are wary of heavy costs and personal sacrifices involved in rearmament, though it be in the joint European defense framework. Originally the wireless distress call at sea was COD, but this was changed to SOS primarily because its coded three dots, three dashes Count Gerhard von Schwerin, and three dots are much easier to read.

Eclipse Of Moon Due Sept. 25-26
NEW YORK, Sept. 21 (UP)—A total eclipse of the moon scheduled for the night of Sept. 25-26 will be visible throughout North America. The first phase, according to astronomers at Hayden Planetarium, will begin at 8:20 p. m. (East Liverpool time) when the moon starts entering the penumbra, or incomplete shadow of the earth. At that time there will be little noticeable change. At 9:31 p. m., when the moon starts to enter the umbra, or direct shadow, the first bite into the moon will be noticed. The "bite" will grow until at 10:54 p. m. the entire moon will be eclipsed. Actually, the moon will not disappear from sight. If the night is clear, it will be a copper-red color. Hayden's astronomers say the weird effect is caused by wavelengths of red light from the sun that are bent into the direct shadow by the earth's atmosphere. The total phase of the eclipse will continue for 46 months. By 1:02 a. m. on the morning of Sept. 26, the moon will be clear again. By 2:13 a. m., it will leave the penumbra and the show will be over. Russell Frizzell, left tackle from Racine, Wis., at 235 pounds is the heaviest player on the 1950 University of Tulsa football team.

The plays will be staged by the Civic Drama League of New York, a road company booked to appear in more than 200 cities in the 1950-51 season. Proceeds will go to the Lions sight-saving fund, which provides medical aid and glasses for underprivileged children and other aids to the blind and near-sighted.

Tickets may be obtained from any member of the club or at: Metz Fur Co., McCullough Electric Co., Horsley-McEwen Studio, Chambers Co. or the Ceramic.

West Virginia Starts Induction Of 660 Men

A total of 660 West Virginians are being inducted in a three-day processing through centers in Charleston, Beckley, Fairmont and Martinsburg Hancock and Brooke counties furnished 27.

Most of the draftees are expected to be sent to Ft. Jackson, S. C., or Ft. Meade, Md., for their Army indoctrination. Some, however, will go to Ft. Knox, Ky., or Ft. Campbell, Ky.

The largest number of service-men-to-be, 89, is from Kanawha county.

The last inductees sent to the armed services from the state were in a contingent of 146 in January, 1949.

SOUTH CHARLESTON, Sept. 21 — The West Virginia Military District announced that a second group of 68 enlisted Army reservists had been ordered to report for active duty Oct. 5.

Easy Come, Easy Go

BARTOW, Fla. — The county school board sold an abandoned building on the Haines City school grounds to the highest bidder. The bid was $1. It won't add much to the school's $7,264,000 budget for the year but the board decided it hadn't lost anything. The board got the building free 15 years ago.

Safety Council Maps War Plant Program

CLEVELAND, Sept. 21 (AP)—Dr. Ned H. Dearborn, National Safety Council president, urged today that the federal government leave war plant accident prevention to his organization.

Speaking before the Ohio State Safety Council's 12th annual conference here, he said his group is "trying to develop a safety program to avoid duplication of effort such as we had in World War II."

"We hope the government agencies will not build up a corps of safety inspectors as they did in the last war," he continued. His organization he added, believes it could organize an entire plant inspection program.

Although the program still is in "a conference and discussion stage, we want to be ready in case there is anything like a global war," he added.

Rats Take Beating

WACO—A 17-month campaign against rats has resulted in 13,000 kills, director E. N. Seawright of the typhus control crew reported. Mr. Seawright said as many as 750 are poisoned in some of the city's areas each month.

'Is His Wife In Court?'

Two Women Stand Up

CLEVELAND, Sept. 21 (AP)—Edward Lemanski is in Cuyahoga county jail today because two women stood up when a judge asked: "Is this man's wife in court?"

The 54-year-old machinist had gone to court on a charge of assault and battery brought by Juanita Lemanski, 48.

But he got into more difficulty when a woman who identified herself as his wife, Mary 54, also stood up.

Judge Louis Petrash, in Municipal Court, sent him to jail under $1,000 bond. The judge said he wants to see if Mary will bring a charge of bigamy.

The judge was told Mr. Lemanski married Juanita, a nurse, in Toledo on April 8 of this year and Mary on April 17, 1948, in Cleveland.

The assault and battery charge was continued until Oct. 4.

AWARD WINNERS. Trophies for the City League's season and pennant championships and the Clarence Huffman Memorial awards for the most valuable players were presented during the annual banquet last night. Left to right with the trophies are Dr. C.H. Bailey, sponsor of Irish-town, playoff champions; Bob Campbell, Irish manager selected as the "most valuable" in the league; Richard Judge of the athletic committee of Post 4, season champions; John Laneve, selected as "most valuable" in the Hot Stove League, and Lawrence Zollinger, City League president. Jerry Katherman, Cards scout, spoke.

Campbell, Laneve Win Huffman Trophies At City League Banquet

Pre-Season Grid Poll Puts Irish On Top

NEW YORK, Sept. 21 (AP) — Notre Dame's cleared legends who haven't been repulsed on the gridiron since 1945, were chosen today to retain their national college football championship.

In an unprecedented pre-season poll by the Associated Press, sports writers and broadcasters heaped an overwhelming vote on Frank Leahy's stalwarts as the No. 1 team of 1950.

Only Army was rated serious opposition as Oklahoma and California, two giants of the 1949 season, experienced a sharp drop in favor.

Oklahoma's Sooners, second last year, were picked sixth in the new analysis and California's Golden Bears plummeted all the way from third to 14th.

Here's how the press box corps from coast-to-coast sees the teams finishing in the developing campaign: Notre Dame, Army, Michigan, Tennessee, Texas, Oklahoma, Stanford, Illinois, Cornell and Southern Methodist.

Ohio State received 218 points to lead the second 10 teams.

The Fighting Irish, unbeaten in 38 games dating back to the end of the last war, received 101 first place votes in the 1125 cast. They were listed on every ballot and were at least 1-2-3 on every paper but one.

This gave the men of South Bend a resounding total of 1,219 points on the regular AP poll basis—10 points for first, nine for second and on down the line.

No other team received more than seven No. 1 votes and Army shared this number with Texas, which is expected to run wild in the southwest this year.

Other first place votes went to Michigan, 5; Oklahoma, 3, and Tennessee and Illinois, 1 each.

Last year's final top 10 were, in order: Notre Dame, Oklahoma, California, Army, Rice, Ohio State, Michigan, Minnesota, Louisiana State, College of the Pacific.

With Eddie Lebaron leading the way, the College of Pacific scored 575 points again 66 for their opponents while winning 11 straight games in 1949.

Manager Bob Campbell of Irishtown and John Laneve of Newell American Legion Post 114 were presented with the Clarence Huffman Memorial awards as the "most valuable" players in the City League and Hot Stove League, respectively, during the annual City League banquet Wednesday night at the Travelers Hotel.

The trophies were presented in memory of the late Golden Star manager, one of the Hot Stove League founders and former president of the Postal Carriers Local by Richard Kidder and John Geren, representing the Post Office employees.

Campbell piloted the Irish to the Shaughnessy playoff championship while young Laneve sparked the Newell nine to the Ohio Class "A" Hot Stove title.

The awards highlighted the banquet which was attended by more than 125 league officials, players and guests.

Trophies also were presented to the season champion American Legion Post 4, Irishtown, the playoff champ, Homer Laughlin, runner-up, and Harry Podewels, the loop's leading hitter.

In a surprise presentation, Lawrence Zollinger, league president, and Clinton Seever, past president, were presented with plaques for their services to the league by Don Burdick, vice-president.

Mr. Zollinger awarded the championship trophy to Richard Judge, chairman of Post 4's athletic committee, while Manager Bill Wolfe accepted the trophy for Podewels, who was unable to attend.

The playoff championship trophy was presented to Dr. C. H. Bailey, long time sponsor of the Irishtown team, and the runner-up award was accepted by J. M. Wells Jr. of the Homer Laughlin China Co.

Jerry F. Katherman of Cleveland, St. Louis Cardinal scout, was the principal speaker, relating several incidents concerning major league stars and speaking about baseball in general.

Mr. Katherman, a former minor league player, commended the league on its season and its efforts toward the players, pointing out that leagues of this type are the "grass roots" of baseball.

He told the crowd that the Cardinals are interested in the Ohio Valley area, and indicated that the St. Louis farm organization may hold a tryout camp here in the future.

Mr. Katherman talked at length about Stan Musial, praising him as one of the finest and most sincere fellows in the game. "He's all that everyone says he is," he commented.

He also paid tribute to Bill Bradley, Cleveland Indian scout who conducted a camp here several years ago, and now is critically ill with a heart ailment in a Cleveland hospital.

Mr. Burdick, who served as master of ceremonies, introduced the guests.

They were other league officials, Harry Allison of Wellsville, vice-president; Fred Hilditch, secretary; Charles Allison, treasurer; John Barr, Floyd Vess and Delmar Manning, members of the arbitration board; Kenneth Browning, Keith Wheatley and Charles Stone, scorekeepers; Everett Ash, William Cline and Harry Allison, groundskeepers, and Nate Lorah, Bob Vocia, Charles Caldwell, Cal Wagoner, Vern Bailey, Milo Kasonovich and Bill Komara, umpires.

Other guests included the team sponsors, Dr. Bailey, J. M. Wells and J. M. Wells Jr., Elmer Eiferd of Golden Star, William Brokaw of Post 4, William Bratt of Wellsville Post 70 and Sid Young, Thayer McDaniel and Leroy Chamberlain of the Elks.

Others were Harry "Hi" Myers and Lawrence Hayden, former major league stars; Mayor C. C. Leatherberry of Wellsville; Supt. W. G. Fordyce, Principal Ralph W. Betts, O. E. Hall, Raymond Buzzard, I. A. Hoffman, J. E. Curry and James Bennett of the Board of Education; William Mitcheson, president of the Hot Stove loop; Al Klose, Rick Morris and Dave Taylor of WOHI, Robert Banfield of WLIO and Byron R. Eells of The Review.

QUILLA HANOVER PICKED FOR 'LITTLE BROWN JUG'
DELAWARE, O., Sept. 21 (AP) — A big race over a little track pops up today as 11 three-year-old pacers battle for $56,525.47 in the fifth "Little Brown Jug" classic over Delaware County Fair's half-mile oval.

Quilla Hanover, fleet daughter of Billy Direct, was favored to become the first filly ever to win the sidwheeling feature of the Grand Circuit meeting. The little lady, owned by Cleo A. Young of Timmonsville, S. C., and driven by 30-year-old Johnny Simpson of Chester, S. C., was quoted at 5 to 2.

Arrayed against her were some of the country's finest pacing colts, however. A couple of weeks ago the favorite set a new two-year-old record for three-year-olds by going in 2:00 4/5 and back in 2:01 in the Horseman Futurity at Indianapolis.

With only 11 starters, this year's Jug opened off a bit from the record purse of $58,281.30 set a year ago when 16 faced the starter and Good Time won in straight heats to pick up $23,312.52.

Mississippi State's 1950 football team will face three opponents which were not met last year—Arkansas State, Georgia and Kentucky.

Four District Elevens To Risk Clean Records

Four district elevens will have clean records jeopardized against tough opponents this week end. Three others will strive for their first victories, while another will attempt to get back on the victory trail after a setback last time out.

Two battles are listed for Friday afternoon, six that night with a single skirmish on tap Saturday afternoon.

Liverpool Frosh Defeat Newell Subs

East Liverpool freshman eleven opened its season Wednesday afternoon at Patterson Field with a 12-0 victory over the Wells High reserves of Newell.

Left End Bob Wilson scored from the four on an end around play in the second period, and Fullback Joe Jackson plunged over from the two for the second touchdown in the final quarter.

First downs favored the Little Potters, 11-3.

The running of Capt. Art Adkins, left halfback, and Jackson, and the defensive play of Quarterback Don Scott highlighted the yearlings' triumph.

The passing of Quarterback Jim McDevitt featured Newell's attack.

Schedule Favors Tigers In Stretch

By RALPH RODEN

The final chapter of the American League pennant race opens today and, like a good "who-dun-it", the solution is anybody's guess.

Of the three contenders, the second place Detroit Tigers appear to be in the best position to take charge.

The Tigers play single games today and tomorrow while the league-leading New York Yankees and the third-place Boston Red Sox are idle. Victories in both of these games will put the Tigers in first place.

In addition, the Tigers have another advantage as four of the Red Sox and Yankees' 10 remaining games are against each other. They start to knock each other off in the Yankee Stadium Saturday while the Tigers are in Cleveland.

The Tigers entertain the Philadelphia Athletics today with Freddie Hutchinson pitching against little Bobby Shantz. A victory will shove the Bengals into a first place tie with New York. The Tigers then move to Cleveland where they take on the Indians in the opener of a three-game series tomorrow night.

NEW WATERFORD, Sept. 21 (Special) — Coach Marshall Sayre's six-man football team will open a four-game schedule here Sept. 29 against Salineville.

The abbreviated schedule calls for home-and-home games with Salineville and Fairfield.

The schedule: Sept. 29—Salineville, home. Oct. 5—Fairfield, home. Oct. 20—Fairfield, away. Oct. 26—Salineville, away.

Florists And Lisbon Resume Playoff Series

The Riverview Florists of East Liverpool and Lisbon will clash in the third game of the County League playoff series tonight at 6 on the Negley diamond.

Lisbon, first half winner, took the first game, 11-1, but the Florists bounced back to win the second by an identical score. Riverview won the second half title.

Potters To End Drills For Big Red Tilt Tonight

Coach Wade Watts announced one change in his starting lineup as he prepared to taper off his East Liverpool squad tonight for its annual brush with the Big Red at Steubenville Friday night.

Eddie Oliver, 170-pound sophomore, is slated to start at fullback. The blond husky ripped the Boardman line to shreds in the brief ball-carrying role last week, spearheading a 51-yard drive that was halted on the Spartan 14 when the clock ran out to end the game. His line-backing also has been little short of sensational.

Fairfield's Six-Man Team To Open Friday

EAST FAIRFIELD, Sept. 21 (Special) — Coach Jack Kuhlman will have five lettermen at the six positions when he sends his Fairfield Township six-man grid team against Salineville in the opening game of the season here Friday afternoon.

Veteran performers include Backs Charles Pahanish and Samuel Lipley, Center John Carter and Ends Bob Peppel and Ron Graham. Bob Crook will round out the starting team at quarterback.

The schedule: Sept. 22—Salineville, home. Oct. 5—New Waterford, away. Oct. 13—Salineville, away. Oct. 20—New Waterford, home. Oct. 26—Scioto, home.

Unbeatens Play In ABC

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Sept. 21 (AP) — Two undefeated teams battle tonight as the Eastern Amateur World Series of the American Baseball Congress goes into the fifth round. Dallas, Tex., and Concord, Tenn., will be the unbeaten foes. Only six of the original 18 entrants are still in the running.

Defensive strategy to stop the fleet Big Red backs has been given a big share of the week's practices, but Coach Watts and his staff haven't overlooked polishing up on the Potters' offense.

More than 1,000 fans are expected to follow the Blue and White to Steubenville along with the all-boy marching band.

The kickoff at Harding Stadium is scheduled for 8 tomorrow night.

Jay Kinsey Captures Jaycee Golf Trophy

Dr. R. Jay Kinsey, with a low gross of 74, took the top trophy at the annual Junior Chamber of Commerce Field Day staged Wednesday afternoon at the Country Club.

The low net trophy went to Winston Porter who had an 83, minus 20, for 63. William Smith took the blind bogey award.

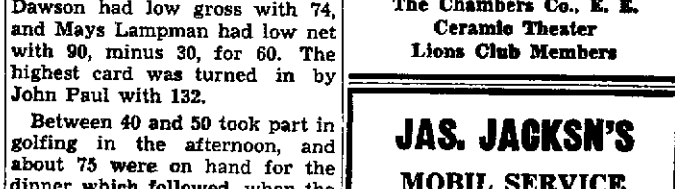

Among non-Jaycees, Frank Dawson had low gross with 74, and Mays Lampman had low net with 90, minus 30, for 60. The highest card was turned in by John Paul with 132.

Between 40 and 50 took part in golfing in the afternoon, and about 75 were on hand for the dinner which followed, when the awards were passed out.

Return Of 7 Injured Players Bolsters Bucks

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 21 (AP) — Return of seven injured players bolstered the Ohio State football squad today.

But Coach Wesley Fesler said he planned to let the returnees take it easy for the time being.

There was no rough contact work in two dummy scrimmages yesterday.

"We couldn't have allowed any of those who returned to engage in actual tackling and blocking for fear of ruining us even more," Fesler moaned.

Despite the light workout, Ed Basinger, defensive right end from Lima, hobbled to the training room with a sprained knee. Basinger, who just rejoined the Buckeyes Monday, will be out for a few days at least.

Sonny Gandee, regular right end from Akron, finally was permitted to unlimber with the squad. Left End Tommy Watson of Urbana also returned, along with Guard Jerry Manz, Toledo; and Backs Skippy Doyle, Rochester, Pa.; Tony Curcillo, Elyria; Bill Petersen, Cleveland; and Karl Sturtz, Coshocton.

Sturtz, whose dislocated little finger has lost its soreness, immediately began running plays with the number two offensive unit.

Quarterback Vic Janowicz of Elyria, still bothered by a bruised hip, put in some valuable time placekicking extra points and field goals.

Defensive maneuvering against Southern Methodist plays was a major part of the afternoon drill program. The Bucks open against Southern Methodist here Sept. 30.

Snead Picked To Win In Kansas City's Open

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 21 (AP) —It looks like Sam Snead, the nation's leading money winner, has a good chance to add to his bankroll in the Kansas City Open Golf tournament, starting today.

He's found the 6,725-yard Millburn Country Club course to his liking. Yesterday in a warmup round he collected a 64 to tie the course record. Par is 72.

The Sulphur Springs (W. Va.) pro, however, has plenty of competition in the $15,000 meet.

Cary Middlecoff, who won the St. Louis Open Monday, turned in a solid 67 in his practice round. Middlecoff plays out of Ormond Beach, Fla.

Other entries include Frank Stranahan, Toledo.

Pay Sacrifices Asked Of A.F.L.

Tobin Calls On Union For 'Self-Restraint'

HOUSTON, Sept. 21 (AP) — Delegates to the American Federation of Labor convention reacted soberly today to Secretary of Labor Tobin's call for self-restraint in seeking wage increases.

"We are conscious of the fact labor will be called upon to make sacrifices in the world crisis," said A.F.L. President William Green. The delegates who heard Mr. Tobin's convention speech yesterday listened with close attention and applauded. There was no murmur of dissent when Mr. Tobin declared continuing wage increases now "would benefit labor least of all because the wages of labor usually lag behind prices as they rise."

The shirt-sleeved delegates applauded loudly, however, when Mr. Tobin told them:

"It is the government's firm intention to keep the lid on rising living costs. We will take every step necessary to insure that there will be equality of sacrifice during the period ahead, including an early step an excess profits tax Congress is expected to enact within the next few months."

Mr. Tobin was the second in a series of administration speakers, following W. Averell Harriman by a day. Vice-President Alben W. Barkley had been expected to speak today, but was detained in Washington. A.F.L. officials hope he can come here tomorrow.

Mr. Tobin, whose speech was the most sobering of the convention, said "the degree of self-restraint which the President has asked you to exercise is not going to be popular. It's always easier to let the other fellow do it. But it is crystal clear that such self-restraint affords the best chance to avoid over-all drastic controls."

New Weirton Union Seeks To Block C.I.O.

WEIRTON, Sept. 21 (Special) — The newly-organized Independent Steelworkers Union Wednesday petitioned the National Labor Relations Board for the right to oppose the C.I.O.-United Steelworkers Union's request for certification.

Seeking to block the C.I.O. bid to take over representation of 11,000 Weirton Steel employees here and in Steubenville, the independent group filed its petition in Pittsburgh.

The new union was formed after the U. S. Circuit Court ordered the disbanding of a previous independent union at the two plants.

The NLRB now will investigate the conflicting claims of the rival unions and probably will order an election at the plants. The company cannot recognize either union until the issue is decided.

Crowning Of Princess Set For Wellsville Flower Show

A PAGEANT for the crowning of a princess for the dahlia show of the Wellsville Dahlia Club Saturday and Sunday in the Beacom Memorial Gym will be held Saturday night at 8:30 and will be open to the public.

Children who have been soliciting votes will comprise the court, and Mrs. Ruth Fitzsimmons will be in charge. Surprise features have been planned for the two days.

Cactus, semi-cactus, formal, informal, miniature and pompom dahlias will be shown in amateur, open-to-all, small flowered and seedling divisions. First and second ribbon awards and rosette-outstanding blooms will be given.

Fanciers from Johnstown, Pittsburgh, West Bridgewater, Cleveland, Martins Ferry, Parkersburg and William Craine, George Schepp, J. T. Eccleston, Frank Richmond, Clarence Green and Roy Smith of East Liverpool will judge the specimen blooms.

Other garden flowers, aside from dahlias, will be shown in the arrangement division which will be divided into amateur, advanced amateur and open sections.

Mrs. J. C. Walker and Mrs. William Brosh of Cleveland will judge the arrangement division of which Mrs. L. J. Smurthwaite of East Liverpool is chairman.

A salon of the East Liverpool Photographic Society and a display of prints by camera enthusiasts of the tri-state area will be exhibited.

The show and the picture exhibits will be set up Friday night at 7 and Mr. Smurthwaite, show chairman, asked the assistance of all club members. All specimen blooms must be in place by 1 p. m. and arrangements by 3:30 p. m.

A dinner for visiting exhibitors, judges and club members will be held Saturday night at 6 in the First Christian Church. Reservations must be made by 2 p. m. with Mrs. Maud Crawford.

The public may view the show from 6 to 10 p. m. Saturday, and 10 a. m. to 9 p. m. Sunday.

Assure You of Top Quality

Fresh Fruits and Vegetables!

On arrival each shipment of fruits and vegetables is inspected by an expert checker who removes all items that fail to meet A&P's high standards.

Frequently throughout the day the checkers inspect the produce racks and remove any not in perfect condition.

Immediately put on a "Quick-Sale" table, the off-grade items removed from shipments and racks are sold at reduced prices that make them excellent values.

The fruits and vegetables on A&P's racks are always fresh and fine because any that aren't are removed from the shipments on arrival and from the racks several times a day, reduced in price and put on a "Quick-Sale" table.

Prisoner Examined

LISBON, Sept. 21 — John T. Lewis of Sebring was returned to the county today after 60 days' observation in the Lima State Hospital. Indicted by the April Grand Jury for a Leetonia home burglary, his mental examination was ordered after the court turned down a plea for probation. The court is awaiting the hospital's report.

PRINCESS ANNE, Prince Charles bends over to kiss his baby sister, Princess Anne, first daughter born to Princess Elizabeth and her husband, Prince Philip.

Erie Railroad Agent

Speaks To Lisbon Club

LISBON, Sept. 21 (Special)—R. A. Saut told the Lisbon Kiwanis Club today the Erie Railroad is one of the most improved in America because it has spent approximately $7 for new equipment and modernization for every $1 in dividends the past 29 years.

Speaking at the club's luncheon in the Pythian Sisters Hall, the railroad's Youngstown commercial agent declared "the Erie has spent an average of 10 million dollars during the 29 years, and increased this to 20 million for improvements last year."

Non-Smoking Truman

Given Box Of Cigars

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21 (AP)—President Truman, a non-smoker, yesterday received a box of cigars from President Carlos Prío Socarras of Cuba.

The gift was delivered by Ambassador Luis Machado, who commented to reporters that if the President tries one of the 50 cigars "he will be in very good humor as customary."

Mr. Truman told the ambassador he does not smoke, but has many friends who do, Mr. Machado said.

4-H Club News

PASSES were distributed for the Jefferson County Fair at Smithfield when members of the Brush Creek 4-H Club met Monday night at the Brush Creek Grange hall.

Plans also were discussed for a Halloween party Oct. 16 with the Chestnut Ridge Livestock Boys.

Waterway Hits Record

CHICAGO—Traffic on the Illinois Waterways, which connects the Great Lakes with the Mississippi River, set a record in 1949. The Corps of Engineers, which maintains and operates the vital transportation link, said 1949 tonnage totaled 12,895,114.

More bituminous coal and lignite is carried on the Monongahela River than on any other U. S. inland waterway.

First Reports Given

Civic Music Workers Optimistic In Campaign

First reports in the Civic Music Association's annual membership drive this week are tinged with optimism, according to Jorge Ortiz, national field representative of the Civic Concert Service.

Mr. Ortiz said sales Tuesday and Wednesday on new and re-newsals are ahead of last year for the same period.

The decision to hold the season's concerts in the Ceramic Theater instead of the Memorial Auditorium will limit the memberships because of the smaller seating capacity. None will be sold after the 7 p. m. deadline Saturday.

The next report is due Friday afternoon at Civic Music headquarters in the Ohio Power Co. office and the final figures will be turned in Saturday.

An army of 250 workers—the largest number in the history of the association—is engaged in the campaign.

The 13 division leaders with captains follow:

Mrs. Herbert Plotts, chairman, Mrs. Floyd Caputo, Mrs. Elliott Por-syth, Mrs. Ralph Betts, Mrs. Jane Caplan and Mrs. Francis Evans, captains; Miss Lydian Bennett, chairman, Mrs. Ralph Johnson, Mrs. Jessie Hall Kautman, Michael Miller, Richard Plotts and Miss Dorothy Flick; Miss Agnes Cleland, chairman, Miss Joyce Birbeck, Mrs. Lawrence Shapiro, Mrs. E. M. Applegate and Miss Marywynne Trappe; Mrs. William Siebenthal, chairman, Mrs. Hugh McKernan, Mrs. Charles Dorsey and Mrs. Frank Bosco; Miss Betty LaNeve, chairman, Mrs. Christine Collins, Mrs. Theresa Smith, Mrs. Cora Laneve, Miss Virginia Laneve and Mrs. Frances Green; Miss Wilma Plotts, chairman.

Ex-Judge Clinton Boyd

Dies In Car-Truck Crash

LONDON, O., Sept. 21 (AP)—An automobile-truck collision yesterday killed former Common Pleas Judge Clinton D. Boyd, 66, of Middletown and a woman passenger and injured the judge's wife. The dead woman was Mrs. Clara Schaeuble, 77, of Hamilton.

Mrs. Marie Boyd, 66, was treated at Springfield City Hospital for superficial head and lip injuries and released.

The bodies of Judge Boyd and Mrs. Schaeuble were taken to a London funeral home.

The accident occurred four miles west of here on U. S. Route 42 when the judge's car skidded on the wet highway and its rear end hit the fender of a truck driven by Willis P. Osborn of Akron. Mr. Osborn was unhurt.

Mr. Boyd was an unsuccessful candidate for the Republican nomination for chief justice of the Ohio Supreme Court at the May 2 primary.

Alabama Wars On TB In Child

Babies Vaccinated In Preventive Drive

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 21 (UP)—An experiment in tuberculosis prevention has been in progress here for months.

It will take years to learn whether it will be successful because the subjects of the research are 2-day-old babies who first see the world from the maternity wards at Jefferson-Hillman Hospital.

The program is simple. It merely involves the vaccination of every child delivered at the hospital during the second day of life with BCG, the anti-TB vaccine which has had such a long and stormy history that only in the last few years have doctors in this country begun to accept its usefulness.

A woman doctor, Ruth Berrey, who sickened each time she read of child deaths in Jefferson county attributable to tuberculosis, is responsible for the experiment. She grew discouraged with the practice of sending healthy babies into infected homes to die of military tuberculosis or tubercular meningitis.

The Health Department is keeping an active file on each of the children vaccinated.

Recovered Heart Victim Seen Capable Workers

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—Persons recovered from heart attacks are better risks for employers than unimpaired workers, according to a heart specialist.

Dr. L. S. Ylvisaker finds rehabilitated heart patients, as a group, are about 2 per cent more productive, while their records show them to be more dependable and grateful. He is chairman of the Philadelphia Heart Association's rehabilitation division.

In industry with stabilized employment, the doctor said about 8 per cent of the entire personnel have heart defects, and it has been shown that about 70 per cent of heart clinic patients are employable when properly placed.

He urged employers to make job analyses to find which jobs can be efficiently handled by recovered cardiac patients.

'I Wanna Get Married' Still Popular Refrain

CHICAGO (UP)—The differences between the real home-maker and the single woman Hollywood calls "the office wife" are rather slight after all.

The State Street Council, which conducts periodical surveys of women's wants, says marriage is the chief interest of both groups.

Sixty-four per cent of a sample group of Chicago married women listed companionship with their husbands as their most important job, while "getting married" was the first wish of white collar girls.

Most single office women, according to the council, consider their places of employment "a happy hunting ground for husband material"—single, that is.

Lipstick On Wall Proves It 'Won't Come Off'

MILWAUKEE (UP)—Five teen-agers here now will believe the lipstick ads that say "won't come off."

Officer William Schendel spotted two boys and three girls writing names on the wall of a new bath house. Officer Schendel and the custodian stood over them while they took water and carborundum to the smudged stone.

Five hours later the wall still wasn't clean.

Rising Prices Upset Truman, Bowles Says

Governor Reports President Prepares 'Protective' Steps

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21 (AP) — Governor Chester Bowles of Connecticut, former price administrator, describes President Truman as "concerned and very worried" about rising prices.

He says the President is laying the groundwork to give housewives "the kind of protection they are entitled to."

After calling on Mr. Truman yesterday, Mr. Bowles told reporters that he himself thinks selective price controls should be imposed now on some basic commodities, like lumber, other building materials, steel and other basic metals and major grains.

Mr. Bowles was particularly emphatic about meat prices, telling reporters:

"The Chicago meat packers are without conscience. If anybody wants to quote me on that, I'd be happy to have them."

"I've had long experience with them and they are completely without conscience."

Mr. Bowles said that as he understands it, the President now is generally pulling together the organization and personnel for whatever is needed on prices. He wouldn't say that the President is planning to use the stand-by authority Congress granted him to clamp on controls generally.

"But if this thing continues," Mr. Bowles said, "I think they should go on. And I know the President's heart is in the right place."

"We've got to get those prices back to a stable point. With all this tremendous spending that's starting to hit, it's bound to push prices up fast and there will be the old scramble again between prices and wages."

"The worst thing that could happen to the consumer would be the election of another 80th Congress."

During that Republican Congress, he said, Mr. Truman repeatedly tried to put through an anti-inflation program, but Congress balked and watched food prices go up 46 per cent.

Coffee that sold for 31 cents a pound under OPA now is close to $1, Mr. Bowles said. Textiles are up 50 per cent, he said, and General Electric boosted prices 10 per cent Tuesday.

"All that, I think, is ominous, dangerous, extreme. A lot of it is irresponsible."

While most corporations have been restrained, he said, there have been enough exceptions to create a real problem.

Beats King, Drops Dead

CANNES, France, Sept. 21 — British textile manufacturer Myers Hyman, 53, died yesterday a few minutes after winning 400,000 francs ($1,100) from King Farouk of Egypt at cards. A doctor attributed the death to heart failure, presumably caused by excitement.

Atlanta Publisher To Aid In Bond Drive

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21 (AP) — The appointment of Clark Howell, publisher of the Atlanta (Ga.) Constitution, as chairman of the newspaper publishers' advisory committee for the treasury's savings bonds division was announced yesterday.

Secretary of the Treasury Snyder said that in accepting the post Mr. Howell expressed the opinion that the savings bonds program has added greatly to the nation's economic strength.

The committee, Mr. Snyder said, "will continue to assist the treasury in encouraging every American to invest a portion of his income in savings bonds."

Motherhood Reunites College Roommates

ST. LOUIS (UP) — Mrs. George J. Holt and Mrs. J. Edgar Lumpkin became roommates again after more than a decade.

In 1939, as Patricia McMaster and Nancy Stice, they shared the same room while attending William Woods College, at Fulton, Mo.

After graduation that year, they attended one another's wedding.

This year, Patricia and Nancy were in room 636 at Deaconess Hospital after giving birth to daughters.
